WHEN WILL WE EVER LEARN.

Over the last few years the State Association has shown a complete lack of understanding for clubs and players.

The action of Gladesville Ryde in 1942 in playing a suspended player in the final of the Sydney Cup, resulted in little action from the NSW State League.

This left the way open for (all) clubs to defy the ruling body

Metters consequently forfeited their elimination match in this years Sydney Cup to Gladesville Ryde in "PROTEST", While likewise Leichhardt Annandale forfeited to North Shore.

In addition, when the draw for this season (1943) had been made no matches had been set down for the Easter Long Weekend.

Imagine the situation !! there they were, "War Weary" shift workers, all working seven days a week and the first real break they have, they find that no football had been set down for Easter.

Challenge Match To Buy War Bonds.

To compensate, Metters and Wallsend arranged a challenge match for Easter Saturday. The proceeds from which were to go towards the purchase of "WAR BONDS".

ASSOCIATION WARNS WALLSEND AND METTERS NOT TO PROCEED WITH CHALLENGE MATCH.

Despite written instructions from the Association that no matches were to be played over the Easter Break the match went ahead.

Metters and Wallsend claimed that arrangements had gone so far to call the "Challenge" off.

The match was won by Metters 4x3 with Referee Doug McLaren as referee.

STATE ASSOCIATION FINES CLUBS.

The State Association decided to fine both Metters and Wallsend £10 Pounds each for playing on Easter Saturday.

The delegates of the two clubs opposed the fixing of any punishment, contending that they had broken no rules.

Leichhardt Annandale and Adamstown Rosebud delegates also added their Support for the two clubs.

Eventually, the States four leading football clubs,

Metters, Leichhardt Annandale and Adamstown Rosebud and Wallsend rebelled against the NSW Association.

NEW BODY FORMED AT TERMINUS HOTEL NEWCASTLE.

The four clubs met at the Terminus Hotel Newcastle on the 2nd May 1943 and formed a new Football Association, which would be officially known as.

It should be noted that during the replay of the semi final between Wallsend and West Wallsend at the Crystal Palace West Wallsend missed two penalty kicks.

Wallsend Missed Soccer Double

After Wallsend's convincing win over Leichhardt in the final of the State Soccer League's Priest Cup on Saturday, the two teams played a 3-all draw in the final of the Miller Cup yesterday. The players remained on the field expecting to play extra time. The Secretary of Wallsend Club (Mr. T. Lovett) said that the extra time condition was only provided in the conditions for the State and Priest Cups. The match will probably be replayed at Arlington Oval next Saturday. Proceeds of yesterday's match will be donated to foster junior and schoolboy competitions.

By its 0-nil win in the Priest Cup final, Wallsend proved beyond doubt that it is the season's outstanding team in the State League competitions. Not only did the result of Saturday's match average Wallsend's defeat by Leichhardt in the State Cup semi-final, but it indicated that when able to place its full team in the field that few opponents can hold the State Premiers. Leichhardt's colossal defeat came as a surprise to many, especially as it held the same eleven which won the State Cup.

Wallsend played to a plan to develop its attack along the flanks. Halves Nelson, Paterson and Wilkinson did this to a nicety, and R. Date was at his best. Date's scoring of 7 goals in a final is without parallel. It showed that Date is a reliable goal scorer in any position in the attack. L. Smith, who replaced the injured Jones, scored a brilliant goal with the head. A. Quill netted the other goal.

In contrast, Leichhardt's half-backs were slow, hesitant and only on rare occasions did they create scoring opportunities for their forwards. The injury to international Digger Evans, in the last 15 minutes was the result of a collision with his team mate, Marston. The match was played in a very sporting spirit.

West Wallsend completed the season by beating Metters by 4-3 in a challenge match at Arlington Oval. Baker, Pepperall, Robinson and Pugh were outstanding players for the winners. Metters included a junior, W. Curran, who played well.

In the final of the State League premiership at Arlington, Wallsend carried too many guns for Leichhardt and took the honors 4-2, after breaking even two-all at lemons.

Williams, a last-minute sub. for Wallsend, played a splendid game, and Jones was outstanding in the forwards.

In the halves, Laurie Nelson did a man-sized job. His play was a big factor in the team's success.

Digger Evans was easily best for Leichhardt, whose youngsters failed to shine against their more experienced rivals.

It all makes us think that Wallsend has been taking things easy over the last couple of weeks.

Wallsend 4 (Jones 2, Date, Williams), Leichhardt 2 (Humphreys, McMahon).

Today at Gladesville, North Shore and Gladesville will meet in a round of the Sydney Cup.

DISPUTE OVER CONTROL

Deadlock Reached on Conference

The attempt by the president of the Australian Soccer Football Association, Mr. S. A. Storey, M.L.A., to convene a conference between the State Association and the State League, has resulted in a deadlock.

Last week, the council of the State League reaffirmed a decision not to attend a conference while the executive of the association remained in office.

The association council, which met yesterday, has decided that any condition imposed by which its executive would be compelled to resign prior to a conference, could not be agreed to.

Some Soccer officials contend that a conference between three or five representatives from each faction, under the control of a neutral chairman, would have more appeal.

The State Association had intended to discuss the possibility of reviving district football, but the matter has been referred to the rules and revision meeting, which will probably be held late in November. Corrimal club has announced its decision to remain with the association.

Meanwhile, the State League has called entries to close on November 30, for its 1944 competitions. All clubs in membership after that date will be permitted to nominate candidates for the positions of office-bearers, who will be selected by ballot amongst the clubs for the 1944 season.

SATURDAY'S FINALS

Corrimal won the Soccer Association premiership for the first time in the club's history, when it easily defeated Swansea by seven goals to two at the Sydney Sports Ground on Saturday.

In the State League premiership final, played at Arlington Park, Wallaseed accounted for Leichhardt-Anandale by four goals to two, in a game which was even throughout.

Had Swansea All At Sea

CORRIMAL COPS TITLE

WHEN Corrimal "cranked up" at the Sports Ground yesterday, they had Swansea wallowing in their wake. The Coasters played with lots of vim and verve over the final stages, and won the 1943 premiership 7-2. Poor tactics by Swansea halves, who played far too deep, made the task of Corrimal easier than it should have been.

CORRIMAL'S team work had the Northerners playing on the defensive when they should have been battling to score goals.

Goodall, Price, and Campbell wanted to play defensive football, and consequently were not in position to support the forwards when they tried to break through the defence of Kelso and Tobin.

Tobin played one of his best games. He held the side together and kept them battling away to score goals.

Corrimal did not fall into the error of thinking the game was over when they got their noses in front, but went for the doctor, and made every post a winner.

Tom Rumley added to his fine tally for the season by scoring the hat-trick of goals.

Signall, who played a fine game on the right flank, never lost an opportunity of driving for the net, and bagged a brace of goals.

Henwood seems to go on like the brook. His back play is still as virile as years ago.

Goalies Jenkins and Nix offered a contrast in size, and both did well.

Jenkins has developed into a fine keeper, and with sound backs in front of him, looks good enough to make an international side.

Coolahan soccer great

THERE have been few Australians who have captained their country's sporting teams against four overseas sides on Australian soil in the space of five seasons.

Bill Coolahan, of Speers Point, one of the most renowned soccer players to represent his country, did exactly that.

He led Australia in two of the three Tests — he played in the other — when Bernard Joy's English Football Association amateur team was defeated, two-one, in the 1937 Test series. He was also captain of teams against India in 1938, Palestine in 1939 and China in 1941.

It is an outstanding record. But Bill Coolahan was an outstanding player. Australia has had no better half-back and very few to equal him.

In a senior grade football career lasting 16 years, Coolahan reached the heights. He did not allow himself to suffer the embarrassment of sliding from the peak as happens to so many sportsmen who linger for too long on the playing field. He was as good as ever when he made the sensible decision to retire in 1943.

His career in the top ranks ended almost where it started for, after some matches in 1927 in one of the many fine West Wallsend teams, when he was 16, he joined the Speers Point Club for a season. He joined that club's successor, Lake Macquarie, 16 years later, the season in which he retired and in which Australian soccer became the poorer because of his decision.

Sid Grant, the doyen of Australian soccer historians, who was a Northern, State and Australian selector in Coolahan's heyday, writes in his book, Soccer Records: "Coolahan was known as 'Bill the Lionhearted' because of his refusal to admit defeat even in the most adverse circumstances. He was the toughest defender to wear an Australian Jersey. His tackling was swift, direct, well-timed and seldom did he fail."

Such praise is not fulsome neither is it exaggerated. It is right on the mark.

A born footballer and a born leader, Coolahan never shirked a tackle, never yielded a yard of territory and was as sound a tactician as the game has had. That, of course, was to be expected since Coolahan served most of his soccer apprenticeship under one of the game's greatest and finest generals, Clarrie Coutts, of West Wallsend.

Bill Coolahan played his school football at West Wallsend, sometimes for both Catholic and Primary school teams.

He moved into the West Wallsend Club's under-16 side in 1927 and twice in that season was called into the senior side and also into the club's under 18 and fourth grade teams on many occasions, frequently playing twice in one afternoon.

When his family moved to the lakeside area in 1928, Coolahan joined the Speers Point Club but transferred to the strong Adamstown Club in 1929 to join Clarrie Coutts, who made the move when West Wallsend missed a place in the newly formed State League competition. In the following season Bill's older brother Frank transferred from Gladesville-Ryde to Adamstown, the three forming one of the great half-back lines of Australian soccer — Coolahan, Coutts, Coolahan.

Frank Coolahan, who played three times for Australia, died at a comparatively early age.

His funeral was held on the day on which the North played the South at Adamstown. That match was also a trial from which a team to tour New Zealand was selected. Bill Coolahan was a certainty to be selected, had he played. His replacement went to New Zealand.

When West Wallsend was admitted to the State Soccer League in 1931, Coutts and the two Coolahans returned to West Wallsend to rejoin the club with which they had started their football careers.

Bill Coolahan was back with Adamstown in 1935 and his greatest days in the game followed although he had played for the North and for NSW in an interstate carnival before that.

He played, and led, the North many times, including 10 of the annual North-South fixtures. He played 11 times for Australia, scoring in one match. It comes as something of a surprise, even to one who saw him play in so many matches, to find that Coolahan scored 101 goals in his senior grade days. In those times, half-backs were not expected to score goals. But he was so versatile that he could play with equal skill and effect, in any position from goalkeeper to centre-forward.

Coolahan had seven seasons with Adamstown before moving to the team in his hometown. They were among the best in Rosebud history.

These days Bill Coolahan is a keen bowler and a member of Teralba Club. He is still as keenly competitive as he was in his football days and is still the same worthwhile Bill Coolahan. He is included on one's short list of Australia's soccer greats for that is his right. Neither can there be doubt as to his right to the respect and affection in which he is held by a very wide circle of friends.

Plan for District Soccer Competitions

THE POSSIBILITY OF conducting district soccer competitions next season will be considered by the State Association on October 16. Delegates favoured the proposal at a meeting last night.

It was decided to invite West Wallsend and Lake Macquarie clubs, which joined the State League this season, to play.

The President (Mr. H. Sellwood) said the association expected stronger competitions next year.

"We want to know what teams are remaining with us," said Mr. Sellwood, "because the State League had openly stated that it will have four extra teams and will play a North and South competition. Despite the breakaway move this season, clubs produced good football. There are prospects of an eight-team competition this season."

It was stated that Lysaghts, Orb and Dudley would probably have two teams. Merewether would meet next week.

The Secretary (Mr. T. M. Percy) said the State League did not want everyone in its competition.

"They will break away from the weaker clubs in their organisation," said Mr. Percy. "That is something you want to keep in mind. They got a knock-back when they asked Corrimall and Woonona to join, so I do not know from where they are going to get their Southern teams. They appear to have less chance of getting any teams in the North."

Mr. J. Graham said the State League was not a happy family. The association should organise an eight-centre or district competition. They should try to secure enclosed grounds. He thought West Wallsend would come over.

Mr. H. Mitchell said they should accept all teams and play two divisions.

Mr. Percy said Teralba could also be revived into a strong team.

Mr. A. Burns said that it was rumoured that Boolaroo would enter a team.

Mr. Sellwood suggested that the eight districts be made up from the following: West Wallsend, New Lambton, Lysaghts, Merewether, Dudley, Swansea, Lake Macquarie, Wallsend.

The Treasurer of the State Association (Mr. R. Drue) said it was the wish of the association that all sub-districts should meet to formulate a policy for next season. He added that the association would also be competitors for the big Sydney ground next season.

Recommendations were received from the Southern Division that the State Association be asked to introduce district football; that the Gardiner Cup be again played; that the State Association control all grounds, fixtures and everything appertaining to the game. The recommendations were referred to the Rules Revision Council.

It was decided to request the Rules Revision Council to apply to Greater Newcastle Council to enclose Mayfield Park. It was considered a disgrace that Adamstown was the only enclosed soccer ground in Newcastle.

The under 18 final, Police Boys v. Dudley, and the under 16 final, Swansea v. Merewether, cancelled from last Saturday, will be played at Dudley next Saturday.

Whitelaws brought fame to Northern sport

TWO men who did much to bring Newcastle to the attention of the rest of Australia in the early 1900's were of widely different character yet had much in common and, although never far apart, had paths that seldom, if ever, crossed.

They were John Brown and Bob Whitelaw.

Brown was a power in Australia's mining industry. He brought much wealth to the nation.

Whitelaw was a footrunner and boxing champion. He gained little wealth but a vast amount in friendship and public approval.

The common bond was that their ancestors were born in Lanarkshire in Scotland, both had great interest in Minmi and both were fighters; at greatly different levels.

John Brown fought in the industrial ring. He rose from near obscurity to power.

Bob Whitelaw's pugnacity was confined to a boxing ring. He fought his way out of a John Brown pit to an Australian championship and great, enduring popularity.

In his younger days Whitelaw lived at Minmi. Brown added to his fortune from mines in that area.

Brown took great pride in the speed of his racehorses, Whitelaw from his on running tracks.

Similarity ends there. Whitelaw was lauded by his fellows. Few of the common clay spoke well of Brown.

Bob Whitelaw was the second son of John Whitelaw and his wife, Mary. He was born at their home at Heywood Colliery Village in Lanark on June 16, 1879. John Whitelaw was a young engineering smith who brought his family to Australia in 1884 and then to Minmi after John Brown had visited Scotland to recruit miners for the Brown pits on the Northern fields.

John Whitelaw was quickly given employment by Brown and settled into the everyday life of the thriving township of Minmi.

There began the writing of many pages of Australian sporting history, embracing boxing, footrunning and soccer.

John Whitelaw became president of the noted Minmi Rangers, the first soccer club formed in the North. He was the club's top official when its team defeated the equally noted Pyrmont Rangers, three goals to one, in the final of the highly prized Gardiner Cup in 1892. And it was he who encouraged his wife's brother, John Pallins, to come from Lanark in 1893, not only to work for Brown, but also to play for Rangers.

Mr John Whitelaw was the grandfather of four brothers who rose to the heights in soccer. His son, Bob, was a fervent supporter of Rangers but, a natural athlete, he engaged in many sporting activities as a participant.

School days ended, Bob then 14, went to work in John Brown's Duckenfield No 2 mine at Back Creek. He grew wiry and strong, showing such an aptitude for fighting, although neither a trouble-maker nor a rowdy, that he came under the notice of John Champion, a shrewd judge of boxing and boxers, who had the Clyde Inn at West Wallsend.

Young Whitelaw, at the time, was much more interested in athletics.

Among his notable achievements on the track was his success, in January, 1901, in the Moore Park Mile in the Federation Day sports carnival in Sydney.

But Bob Whitelaw's running career was to be short. He was destined to become a power in the boxing ring.

He worked in a mine blacksmith's shop and when, after a grass fight at West Wallsend, a hand injury forced him to miss a day's work, he was told it was "either fight or work". He left the mine.

He enrolled in a gymnasium conducted by Billy McKell, a former Australian bantamweight champion, and developed so quickly and so well that he had his first professional boxing contest in September, 1901, against Fred Shears in Georgie Wiles' Northumberland Hotel Hall at Minmi.

The referee was Alf "Boko" Thompson, a former featherweight champion who later was proprietor of a well-conducted and popular billiards saloon in Newcastle.

Whitelaw won the fight in nine rounds and went on to many bigger and better things in boxing. He won bout after bout. His first important success came in September, 1902 when he defeated the experienced Jack Donoghue, of Adamstown, in six rounds at the Victoria Theatre in Perkins St, Newcastle.

Success followed success with only a few minor interruptions. In March, 1907, Whitelaw defeated Monty Andrews in the main preliminary bout to the Jack Johnson-Bill Lang fight in Melbourne, the promoter being the much discussed John Wren.

Whitelaw made boxing history by being the first man to defeat Les Darcy. That was on November 3, 1913, the bout taking place at the Victoria Theatre. They met again at Andrews' Stadium at Maitland 65 years ago yesterday, Darcy winning in five rounds and taking from Whitelaw the welterweight championship he had held for eight years.

Whitelaw was 35 when defeated by Darcy. He had one more contest but not until he had passed his 40th year. He met Jim Bailey at Cessnock, lost in six rounds, and retired.

Bob Whitelaw is regarded as one of the best welterweights Australia has produced. He was a born fighter with great natural talent, powerful punching ability and a "killer" instinct. He came up the hard way in boxing and triumphed beyond all expectation.

Four of his nephews were the brothers, Bill, Jack and the twins, Harold and Hugh Whitelaw. They were soccer players out of the ordinary run. Now a grand-nephew is keeping the family's football reputation secure by being prominent in the game.

The eldest of the four brothers was Bill, nicknamed Tolda, who played for Wallsend, Cessnock and Weston. Jack played for Wallsend and Goodyear and represented Australia. Harold and Hugh played for West Wallsend and Wallsend.

Harold played twice for Australia. He was a member of the great Australian team which defeated Bernard Joy's English Football Association amateur team in the ever-to-be remembered first Test at Sydney Cricket Ground in 1937.

The four brothers, between them, played in 642 senior matches: Bill 137, Jack 197, Harold 166, and Hugh 142.

Hugh's grandson, Brett Baldwin, is a 17-year-old with a great future in the game. He plays in Weston Club's teams.

It is a long way back to 1884 when John Whitelaw brought his family from Lanark to Minmi but, in the 95 years, the Whitelaws have certainly made their mark in Australian life and sport.

So successful was the 1943 season that the Association decided to research the possibility of a limited

"FULL TIME PROFESSIONAL competition in the near future.

After much discussion it was decided to take no action till after the war.

The NSW Association decided to increase the number of teams from 8 to 12 teams in an inter-city competition.

Those teams would be.

Adamstown, Canterbury Bankstown, Grace Bros, Granville, Metters, Leichhardt Annandale, Lake Macquarie, North Shore, Wallsend, West Wallsend, Woonona Bulli.

The Metters Club were State Premiers and Wallsend would win the State Cup.

Southern Division entrants were.
Granville, Auburn, Corrimal, Gladesville Ryde, Drummoyne Protestants Churches, St George, Police Club.

Woonona Bulli, Granville withdrew on 5/4/1944 after three series of matches were played under the jurisdiction of the N.S.W. State Association, the six clubs in the above competition then switched to the new body of control and formed the Southern League second Division Senior Status.

PAXTON

As in other areas, when coal development came to Paxton so did soccer.

For several seasons junior teams thrived in this growing area.
In season 1944 Paxton entered a team in the Northern League, which formed when a breakaway State League was created in Sydney.

Its lack of experienced players was its drawback. However,
Hughie Orr took control and led the goalscorers with 12; others were
M. Blane 10, J. Hodges 6, A. Thomson 5, D. Marshall 5, R. Char-nock 3, J. Orr 3.

However, in the Stevenson Cup series Paxton beat Bellbird 7 to nil and Kearsley 6 to 5 in semi-final. In the final against Kurri at Gould Park, Paxton held the Tricolours to a 1 all draw till the last 10 minutes when Kurri ran away to win by 5 to 1. Paxton's eleven:
P. Martens, J. Evans, J. Wilson, R. Thomas, J. Orr, J. Hodges, D.
Marshall, M. Blane, H. Orr, J. Marshall, D. Charnock.

Paxton's next appearance in the Northern League was in 1948.
Among its players were R. M. McGregor, J. Jobson, R. Jobson, R.
Thomas, C. Hindmarsh, J. Sternbeck, A. Morton, J. Evans, J. Hodges, M. Morton, A. Peachman, D. Marshall, N. Crane, M. Martin, D.
Blane, R. Witherall, L. Burgess, R. Morton, M. Charnock, K. Bridge.
M. Blane, B. Orr, N. Ruddon, W. Phillips.

R. Thomas 10, J. Sternbeck 9, N. Crane 7, M. Charnock 6, were top scorers. Oldtime officials of the club are always keen to tell you about the greatest win in the club's short and varied career. In 1943, Paxton was drawn against its near neighbours Cessnock at Cessnock.
On 29th May a crowd of 450 assembled to see the "Miners' Derby".
What a Cup tie! Thrills and spills every minute. Cessnock led by
2 to 1 — goals to Nimmo and McLaren (Cessnock) and Dave Evans (Paxton). With 20 seconds to go Evans crashed in the equaliser. But now to Paxton's greatest Cup effort. In the replay at Paxton, hundreds assembled to see the shock of the season, for Paxton ran out winners by 7 to 1. Goalscorers for winners were Hugh Orr (3), Joe Orr (2) and Mick Blane (2). It was a night for celebrations in true Scottish style in Paxton.

In that series Merewether beat Paxton in the semi-final by 5 to 4.

Little is known of the code's happenings in the last decade but there is every likelihood of a revival amongst the juniors.

WALLSEND HIT BY TRANSFERS.

The news that shocked the state was the announcement that players Reg Date,Harold"Pippy"Wilkinson,Jack"Spike" Loneragan and Bob"Bunny"Fenwick would leave Wallsend and play with Canterbury Bankstown in the Southern competition.
 The loss of these four players was unthinkable,one would have been bad enough. Hedley Parkes was also asked to transfer,"but Hedley had a good job and could not be enticed to leave.

"Surprise Surprise"

Guess who won the southern premiership,none other than Canterbury Bankstown..

Wallsend and Belmont Swansea would meet to decide the Northern Premiers.

REPLAYS TO DECIDE SOCCER TITLE

By "The Onlooker"

THREE TEAMS finished level in the Northern Division Soccer premiership. They are Adamstown, Swansea-Belmont and Wallasey. Each scored 19 points.

The Priest Cup semi-final round is complicated. Two matches, Cessnock v. Wallasey and Cessnock v. Swansea-Belmont will have to be replayed.

Cessnock defeated those teams in the first round, but included an unregistered player. The State Council has ordered the fixtures to be played again. If Cessnock wins both, the position will be as at present. If Cessnock loses both, Swansea-Belmont and Wallasey will be level at the top of the table, and will play off for the premiership. If the three teams remain level after the replays, it will be necessary for each team to meet the other to decide the position. Placings of the teams must be found, since the two top-Northern teams will meet Canterbury-Bankstown and Corrimal in the Priest Cup semi-final round.

The competition will be delayed at least three weeks. Neither replay can be decided next Saturday, when the second round of the State Cup competition will be played. There are matches arranged in the Daniels and Stevenson Cup competition for next Sunday. There are suggestions that Cessnock and Wallasey should meet at Cessnock and delay the Stevenson Cup match, in which Cessnock is concerned, for another week.

The Northern Emergency Committee will announce fixtures to night.

Saturday's results left Adamstown, which lost at Cessnock, in third place on 17 points, with Swansea-Belmont and Wallasey sharing the lead with 19. Adamstown defeated Swansea-Belmont 3-2 in a hard-fought match yesterday. That result brought the three teams level again. It is the closest Northern competition for many seasons. Canterbury-Bankstown went through the Southern Division undefeated, but was fortunate to win the competition's last match on Saturday. It was drawn 1-1, and scored in the last minute to draw level against Granville.

Angry Soccer Scene Followed Ordering Off Of A Player: Matter To Be Investigated

By "CELTIC."

There was a wild scene at the conclusion of the Wallsend-Swansea-Belmont Priest Cup semi-final at Adamstown on Saturday, and it was stated that as two directors witnessed the happening, a full inquiry will be conducted immediately by the Northern Emergency Committee.

Eight minutes before the final whistle Referee Welsh ordered Swansea-Belmont's inside left, R. Leddon, off the field for allegedly using bad language, following the awarding of a free kick against Leddon for an alleged "double-block" tackle.

Leddon moved away from the ball, but had to be approached again before he realised that he was dismissed from the field.

As soon as play finished and players left the field there were wild scenes near the approach of both dressing rooms.

Club officials, however, prevented any serious disturbances.

Mr. Welsh was loudly hooted as he left the field, but was not in any way molested by the big crowd which surged towards the entrance gate.

Threat Of Strike

Prior to the commencement of the match referees threatened a strike if their nominee for the central position was not accepted, and substituted for Mr. B. McWilliams.

The power to appoint referees and linesmen in all semi-final and finals is vested in the seven directors. In other premiership matches the appointments are made by the Referees' Association Appointment Committee.

The trio chosen when the match was announced were Messrs. G. Saunders (referee), J. D'Arcy and T. Welch (linesmen). Prior to the match, Mr. Saunders notified the officials that he was unable to fulfil the appointment owing to illness.

Mr. R. P. Drury and R. Leves appointed Mr. B. McWilliams to fill the vacancy. Both Wallsend and Swansea-Belmont clubs agreed to this change.

At this juncture, the referees' executive intimated that it desired the directors to apply the usual custom, that when the appointed referee is not available the leading linesman should fill the vacancy.

At first there was a deadlock. However, rather than hold up the big game, it was agreed that Mr. Welsh, of Wallsend, should act as central official and Messrs. McWilliams and D'Arcy as linesmen. Wallsend eventually won by one to nil in a match which lacked polish. Play was hard and fast.

Wallsend's sole goal was netted by left winger, G. Horne, after Richardson had "sliced" his clearance.

Swansea-Belmont included three Marines—F. Bevan, a junior from the famous London club, Queen's Park Rangers, Pat Doyle, a Scot from Leicester City, and R. Hopkins, a junior from Barry Island club in the Athor Welsh League.

Of the trio, Bevan was the most successful, and gave a grand display of deceptive work, especially with the head. By this victory, Wallsend will now meet Canterbury-Banktown in the Priest Cup final.

Golden Hind XI In Soccer Challenge Match

By "CELTIC."

The "Golden Hind" Soccer team will meet Swansea-Belmont in a challenge match at Belmont next Sunday.

Sports officer, Lieutenant Morrison, has guaranteed to field his strongest XI, which includes such stars as J. Aston, L. Quedsted, J. Hastie, W. Lindsay, W. Weaver, J. Callow, J. Duran, C. Ball, all of whom have appeared with success in the Southern premiership.

Priest Soccer Cup Won By Wallsend : Tables Turned On Premiers

By "CELTIC."

Wallsend regained Soccer prestige by turning the tables on the State premiers, Canterbury-Bankstown, to win the Priest Cup final at Wallsend yesterday by 2 goals to 1. The previous week Wallsend had gone down 3-0 to Canterbury-Bankstown in the State Premiership final.

The winning goal yesterday was netted in a sensational manner, following a demonstration from the crowd against one of Canterbury-Bankstown's defenders.

B. Gumb, who came through quickly with the ball, was illegally punched behind the visitors' goal-line by one of the visitors.

Gumb collapsed and the crowd hooted. Prompt action by Referee McWilliams prevented the crowd from surging on to the field.

McWilliams cautioned the player, while Gumb recovered after ambulance attention.

Play proceeded with the crowd on its toes.

Following a concerted movement, Pavitt cleverly handled the ball, but in clearing overcarried the ball. A free was awarded to Wallsend, but the referee had some difficulty in forcing the Canterbury defenders to stand 10 yards off the ball. Quill took the kick and his terrific drive cannoned into the net off a defender's leg.

Heated Play

Play in the second half reached fever heat, but the Wallsend defence was able to weather the storm.

The outstanding player was the Royal Marine, J. Bates, from the famous London Crystal Palace club. Bates was a visitor to the match, but when he filled a vacancy caused in the Wallsend attack by the withdrawal of W. Gills.

Bates's footwork was brilliant and his great dribbles thrilled the crowd. His positional play was also of a high standard and his neat passes to Franklyn M. Kemp, allowed the latter to play an outstanding game.

Quill, who scored both of the winners' goals, said that he had reached his ambition of scoring 100 goals in the senior ranks. He would now retire.

G. Arthur made a great success of his first appearance at centre-half. Along with veteran L. Nielson, he was directly instrumental in breaking up many forward moves attempted by Date and company.

Arthur is a potential representative player. Both goalkeepers, A. Dellaway and S. Pavitt, gave safe displays. The long punting and place kicks of Dellaway caused general comment.

Parkes and Englund played well for the winners.

Canterbury-Bankstown failed to show their usual cohesion especially in attack, due to the quick tackling of the local halves against key men, B. Date and J. Hughes.

Priest Soccer Cup Won By Wallsend : Tables Turned On Premiers

By "CELTIC."

Wallsend regained Soccer prestige by turning the tables on the State premiers, Canterbury-Bankstown, to win the Priest Cup final at Wallsend yesterday by 2 goals to 1. The previous week Wallsend had gone down 3-0 to Canterbury-Bankstown in the State Premiership final.

The winning goal yesterday was netted in a sensational manner, following a demonstration from the crowd against one of Canterbury-Bankstown's defenders.

It, Gumb, who came through quickly with the ball, was illegally punched behind the visitors' goal-line by one of the visitors.

Gumb collapsed and the crowd hooted. Prompt action by Referee McWilliams prevented the crowd from surging on to the field.

McWilliams cautioned the player, while Gumb recovered after ambulance attention.

Play proceeded with the crowd on its toes.

Following a concerted movement, Pavitt cleverly handled the ball, but in clearing overcarried the ball. A free was awarded to Wallsend, but the referee had some difficulty in forcing the Canterbury defenders to stand 10 yards off the ball. Quill took the kick and his terrific drive cannoned into the net off a defender's toe.

ated Play

Play in an adjacent field reached fever heat, but the Wallsend defence was able to weather the storm.

The outstanding player was the Royal Marine, J. Bates, from the famous London Crystal Palace club. Bates was a visitor to the match, but was unable to fill a vacancy caused in the Wallsend attack by the withdrawal of W. Miller.

Bates' work was brilliant and his great dribbles thrilled the crowd. His positional play was also of a high standard and his neat passes to Hankman K. Kemp, allowed the winger to play an outstanding game.

Quill, who scored both of the winners' goals, said that he had reached his ambition of scoring 500 goals in the senior ranks. He would now retire.

G. Arthur made a great success of his first appearance at centre-half. Along with veteran L. Nelson, he was directly instrumental in breaking up many forward moves attempted by Date and company. Arthur is a potential representative player. Both goalkeepers, A. Dellaway and S. Pavitt, gave safe displays. The long punting and place kicks of Dellaway caused general comment.

Parkes and Englund played solidly for the winners.

Canterbury-Bankstown failed to show their usual cohesion especially in attack, due to the quick tackling of the local halves against key men, R. Date and J. Hughes.

Quill Scored Twice in Last Game

By "The Onlooker"

ALFRED QUILL, Australia's outstanding Soccer centre-forward, retired yesterday. In his last match he scored the two goals by which Wallsend defeated Canterbury-Bankstown in the Priest Cup final. Wallsend won 2-1.

Quill said it was his last competition match. He might play in the Victory Cup fixture in which Wallsend will meet West Wallsend.

Quill has had 18 seasons of Soccer, and has been a credit to the game. He has represented Australia, the State, and North and South. Most of his competitive football has been played with Wallsend. He has always been among the leading scorers, and often headed the list.

He scored 800 goals in first-class football, probably a world's record.

Deserved Success

Wallsend deserved to defeat Canterbury-Bankstown. The game was rough, with Canterbury-Bankstown deservedly paying for some questionable tactics. Wallsend's first goal came from a penalty, which Quill rammed home at great speed. Its second goal came when the goalkeeper was detected over-carrying the ball. Quill also attended to that.

Wallsend included an Englishman, J. Bates, in its forward line. He brought a new offensive spirit to the line.

The finish of the season may be delayed because of a protest in the Sydney Cup, lodged by Granville against Metters, which defeated it in the semi-final on Saturday. Granville claims Metters included an English player registered with Granville.

The matter will be decided this week. If matches are to be replayed, the Miller Cup final will not be played for some time.

The Stevenson Cup semi-final between Cessnock and Wallsend will be played at Wallsend next Sunday. The winner will meet Kurri Kurri in the final on Sunday.

The Victory Cup match will probably be played on Saturday week, unless the way is clear for the Miller Cup final.

Hurt player soccer final hero

Playing against medical advice, Canterbury-Bankstown's inside right, Reg. Date, was largely responsible for his team's win yesterday in the State Soccer premiership final.

Date scored two goals and started the movement which resulted in the third, enabling Canterbury to beat Wallsend 3-0 at the Sydney Cricket Ground.

Date had to receive ambulance attention twice during the match.

His two goals brought Date's total for the season to 38.

Date injured his shoulder in the New South Wales-British Services match last Saturday, and received massage and ray treatment all last week.

He scored a goal in the first minute of the match, and this rattled Wallsend, who never fully recovered.

Grand goal-keeping by Stan Pavitt and splendid defence by the full-backs, Bob and Vic Murray, broke up the Wallsend combination.

Wallsend's best players were full-back Parkes and goal-keeper Dellaway, whose magnificent saves prevented Canterbury from scoring more heavily.

In the St. George-Gladesville match, which St. George won 4-1, Gladesville were without J. Dowley, their left-back, and St. George were handicapped by the withdrawal of centre-forward D. Evans, their main goal-scorer.

Gladesville fielded six British Service players. St. George played an all-Australian team.

After warding off many attacks, A. Chidgey broke away on Gladesville's right to place a perfect pass to R. Graham, who opened the score for Gladesville.

St. George altered their tactics in the second half, A. Reid scoring two goals in quick succession.

Two further goals for St. George altered the game entirely for them, and Gladesville went to pieces.

WALLSEND WINS 9 VICTORY CUP

REDSHIRTS OUT- PLAY WESTIES

WALLSEND had a clear cut victory over their near rivals, West Wallsend, in the Victory Cup replay

—THE first stanza was packed full of thrills and spills, and at lemons the tally was even at 1 all.

The second half fell as flat as the proverbial pancake due to the vast superiority of the Redshirts both in attack and defence.

The Reds were yards faster to the pill.

Outstanding star in the winners' ranks was veteran skipper Laurie Nelson, who, near the finish, collapsed in a dramatic fashion after heading a fast drive from Whitelaw.

Nelson staggered across the field like a punch drunk pug till he collapsed like a pack of cards.

His many clearances in the opening exchanges kept the Reds in the cash.

Londoner Johnny Bates showed brilliant ball control, while Midlander Bluey Perry hit the highlights by bagging a brace of brilliant goals.

For the Blues, A. B. Pugh and I. A. Whitelaw were stars, while little fault could be found with the custodianship of Charlie Baker.

The standard of play in the second half was proof that many of the players are leg weary, as many movements had the end of the season flavoring.

Wallsend 3 (N. Perry 2, J. Bates 1) beat West Wallsend 1 (H. Whitelaw).

WALLSEND TOO STRONG SOCCER GAME.

Wallsend proved too strong for the Royal Artillery XI at Wallsend yesterday, and ran out winners by 6 goals to 1.

The visitors lacked match practice and could not pace it with the locals. However, from the ranks of the fallen came the hero of the match, which attracted a gate of $80.

Twenty-one years old Gunner Ravenscroft proved the man of the match. Although beaten on six occasions, he made more than 40 saves.

Clad in a dark red sweater and navy knickers, he jumped, punched, dived, pushed and performed like one inspired.

Near the finish he collided with the upright in diving along the ground to nullify a warm drive by A. Quill. Later, Ravenscroft admitted that he would possibly be a "starter" on sick parade tomorrow morning.

The visitors had to make five changes in the original team owing to service requirements.

The Servicemen were entertained by the Wallsend Club and Ladies' Committee on arrival from Sydney by train. They were given an official luncheon at Speers Point, followed by a tour of the lakeside resorts.

After the game, the Ladies' Committee tendered the visitors and local players a banquet in the Wallsend Masonic Hall.

International A. Quill scored four goals for the locals. D. Quinn and R. Kemp also scored, while J. Wroe of Hull replied for the Artillery XI. Mr. W. McKenzie of Newcastle was the referee.

SOCCER PROPOUNDS ITS "GREATEST MYSTERY"

By "The Onlooker"

THE PRIME MYSTERY of Soccer's strangest season is the method by which the State Soccer Council arrived at its selection of the New South Wales team to meet a British Services side on Saturday.

Three Northern players are included. This apparently is the regard in which Northern Soccer is held by the council.

Not one player from the State Cup winner (West Wallsend) or the Northern premiership winner (Wallsend) is in the side.

A. Quill, of Wallsend, who scored the State's four goals when New South Wales last played British Services, is not even a reserve.

R. Date, best inside forward the country has had for years, is selected as centre-forward. He will not be happy in the position.

There would be no criticism if youth were given its chance. It is not. Several players—notably J. Osborne—have been playing for many seasons.

There is no new talent in the team, nor is there an attempt to give promising young players an opportunity.

Selectors did not deliberately omit players from Wallsend on the ground that it will meet Swansea-Belmont in an important match on Saturday because they included Swansea-Belmont's backbone and centre-half, A. Heaney, as pivot for New South Wales. Heaney well deserves the honour. But when last State Councilors selected a team (North v. South, at Wallsend) they thought so little of Heaney that they selected him as outside-left for the North.

Northern selectors, in representative matches earlier this season, did not consider J. Wilkinson, of Weston. Wilkinson is now the State's right winger. I think Wilkinson is still one of the best players in the land and merits selection. But he plays no part in postwar plans. If he was not good enough to hold a place—according to selectors' views—in a Northern district team, he cannot now be good enough to play for the State.

No Imagination

The selection lacks imagination. Selectors provides two players, West Wallsend, which defeated Metters in the Cup final—one of the season's most important fixtures—has not one.

J. Cunningham, of Woonona, one of the best inside forwards in the game, has been ignored for years. Now he is suddenly blossomed out as a "hope." But he will not be one of the players to meet international sides we hope to see when things become normal.

S. Pavitt is a fine goalkeeper. He is not in the class of J. McNabb or W. Morgan, but the best available. But everyone who follows Soccer knows that. Who will replace Pavitt if he is not available for the future "big" games. This was a good chance to find out.

Most promising junior goalkeeper in the State is V. Gleeson, of Adamstown. There was nothing to lose—but much to gain—by testing him.

The State side is good on paper. Yet it engenders no respect for selectors who have proved themselves unimaginative. It is time that some preparation was made for days to come.

The selectors apparently are not eager to cooperate. Yet, in their reluctance to look ahead they are inconsistent. Two Northern sides, West Wallsend and Wallsend, which have many young players and have proved equal to anything in the State, must be wondering what they must do to secure some recognition.

Most followers will be pondering over the same question.

State Side

The New South Wales side is—S. Pavitt (Canterbury-Bankstown); J. Marston (Leichhardt-Annandale); C. Drummond (Metters); D. Coote (Adamstown); A. Heaney (Swansea-Belmont); J. Osborne (Metters); J. Wilkinson (Weston); J. Cunningham (Woonona); R. Date (Canterbury-Bankstown); E. Drain (Woonona); R. Marshall (Metters). Reserve: W. Adamson (Granville).

SERVICES' SOCCERITES CAUGHT IN BLITZ

WITH ten minutes to go and the scores level, 5-all, N.S.W. caught British Services' soccerites in a blitz at North Sydney Oval yesterday, and banged three beauties into the rigging to take the points, 8-5.

HIGHLIGHT of the game was the brilliant displays of ace forwards Reg Date (N.S.W.) and Jack Aston (Services).

Both players thrilled a large crowd with their goal-scoring efforts. Each registered the "hat-trick."

The expected weakness in the N.S.W. team turned out to be their strongest link.

Half-backs Osborne, Heaney and Coots gave their forwards a feast of the ball, while Heaney stood out against the brilliant play of the Service forwards.

His distribution and resolute tackling has seldom been bettered and on all-round performance must be rated the best player on the ground.

All the local forwards played well. Drain and Cunningham fully justified their inclusion.

Marston and Drummond had a lot to do at full-back, while rival goalkeepers Pavitt (N.S.W.) and Turrell gave brilliant exhibitions.

All the Service forward line played well, with Aston, McGowan and Miller stealing the show.

This trio played havoc with the local defence on occasion and only bad luck prevented tall scoring.

MacArthur played well, but he had a terrific job trying to hold Date in check.

Durrant and Ball had a lot of work to do, but played safe on all occasions.

A big pat to English referee Lieut. Giebelier for the excellent way he controlled the game.

N.S.W. 3 (Date 3, Drain 2, Cunningham 2, McArthur, through own goal), British Services 3 (Aston 2, McGowan, Miller).

"GOLDEN HIND" SUNK, 'TOWNIES WIN 7-4

THE Jack Tars from the "Golden Hind" proved that they had their hearts in the right place by their spirited play, which kept the crowd on its toes.

WHEN the scores were 5-4 in the Rosebuds' favor, the locals were awarded a brace of penalties, but Alf Johns kicked both spot kicks at Goalie Dodd, who saved both.

The star of their set-up was "Blue" Hastie, who showed captivating ball control, and a swerve and sidestep as dainty as a ballet dancer.

He netted three goals in succession, and found great support in Quested, Mitch and Perry, all of whom swung the pill about with precision and punch.

Adamstown's aces, especially the halves, were smarter to the ball.

The ground surface was against the visitors' ground tactics; there were more bumps in the playing area than creases in the Pacific.

Snowy Alexander was outstanding in the winner's rearguard, while the attack was as bright as a blooming poinsettia.

Lake was a buoyant winger, while Johns, Teece and "Mustard" Jones worked like trojans in the centre.

Adamstown too good for Royal Navy in Soccer challenge

ALTHOUGH Golden Hind, Royal Navy Soccer team, got off to a brilliant start in its challenge match yesterday, Adamstown beat the sailors by 7 to 4.

Haspie, playing with great speed and aggressiveness, scored a hat-trick for the visitors in the first 10 minutes play.

The game then slowed and Adamstown forwards were quick to take advantage.

By half-time Adamstown was leading with four to three, one goal coming from a penalty kick.

Full-time scores: Adamstown 7 (D. Jones 2, A. Johns 2, D. Coote 2, A. Teece) Golden Hind, 4 (Haspie 3, Questel).

Northern Soccer enthusiasts had an opportunity to see the 'Golden Hind' Soccer combination in action today.

The Royal Navy XI, which has been a drawcard for the code in Sydney this year, met the Northern Division leader, Adamstown, at Adamstown Oval.

At Adamstown
Adamstown v Golden Hind

Teams—
GOLDEN HIND: Dodd, Thacker, Ireland, Porton, Hadaker, Bull, Mitchell, Questel, Hastie, Perry, McCarrick.
ADAMSTOWN: V. Gleeson, D. Williams, W. Alexander, H. Pease, D. Coote, S. Clarke, A. Teece, K. Lake, D. Jones, A. Johns, D. Garfoot.

Referee: G. Saunders.
Early play was fast, with Golden Hind making straight for Adamstown's goal with wing-to-wing passes. The visitors' team work, positional play and approach work won applause. Questel, on Golden Hind's right wing, sent in a perfect centre, which should have been goal, but was allowed to pass by three forwards.

Play went from end to end with neither team holding the advantage for long. A mistake by Thacker gave Adamstown the opening to score the first goal about 15 minutes after the start of play. The ball swung into the centre and was taken by D. Jones, who made no mistake with a hard drive.

Adamstown 1, Golden Hind 0.

Up to this stage the visiting team had been playing a fast game, but now it slowed down, and was more deliberate in its action. These tactics proved of no avail against the fast-moving defence of Adamstown, which kept the ball well-covered. Adamstown went further ahead when Johns scored the ball from a goal-mouth tussle and scored a grand goal.

Adamstown 2, Golden Hind nil.

Golden Hind then began to employ long-passing tactics and Hastie scored three goals in less than 10 minutes. He scored two with his head and breasted the third past Gleeson, who had made a great effort to save.

Golden Hind 1, Adamstown 2.

Adamstown resumed the offensive and Coote evened the score.

Golden Hind 3, Adamstown 3.

The locals took the lead a few minutes before the interval, when John netted again.

Adamstown 4, Golden Hind 3.

There were the scores at half-time. The halves kept a close check on forward movements for a period after the interval, but eventually Adamstown penetrated the defence and Teece scored.

Adamstown 5, Golden Hind 3.

Golden Hind then attacked and Questel reduced the deficit.

Adamstown 5, Golden Hind 4.

Dear Mr Hetherington,

Thank you for your letter of 15 October 1984.

I am afraid that I am unable to give you a definitive answer as to whether any of the 1924 HMS HOOD/HMS REPULSE football team were lost with either of these two ships in 1941. It is, however, extremely unlikely. The names listed are fairly common ones and, without initials, it would be impossible to know that the right Andrews, Benson, Cox etc was being referred to.

I attach Summaries of Service for the HOOD and the REPULSE which I hope will be of interest.

I am sorry I cannot be more helpful.

Yours sincerely,
M. McAloon

MEN OF WAR OF THE ROYAL NAVY.

Over the years many fighting ships of the British Royal Navy have visited New South Wales, and have played in various competitions.

Way back in 1909 we had the H.M.S. Powerful, and in 1910 the H.M.S. Promethens.

The H.M.S. Powerful played in the famous Gardiner Cup series, which was played on the same lines as the F.A. Cup.

The H.M.S. Powerful won the Gardiner Cup in 1910 and was runner up in 1911 to Balmain. To win the cup in 1910 the H.M.S. Powerful defeated the south coast team Helensburg in Sydney 2.0. The winning combination was

W.A. Horton
G. Turner
G. McEwan
S. Smith (Capt)
T. Doherty
T. English
J. Grogan
F. Keating
T. Chandler
A. Baxter
T. Brooks

Medals were presented to the winners.

In 1924 while on a world cruise to show the Flag to the British Colonies, H.M.S. Repulse and the mighty Battle Cruiser H.M.S. Hood visited Australia. The Hood was the Flagship of Vice Admiral Sir Frederick Field.

Naturally the Commander in Chief, after so long away from home waters was anxious for his crew to play some sport.

A combined special service squadron were invited to play a select Newcastle Football team. The teams were.

In 1927 at Hobart Park New Lambton a suburb of Newcastle a select Newcastle team played the H.M.S. Renown, defeating the visitors 5 . 2 on the 9th April.

Again in 1938 the H.M.S. Dorsetshire played a Sydney side in another goodwill match.

Although the match was won by Sydney, it was of little importance what matter most was the GOODWILL, especially in an uneasy world.

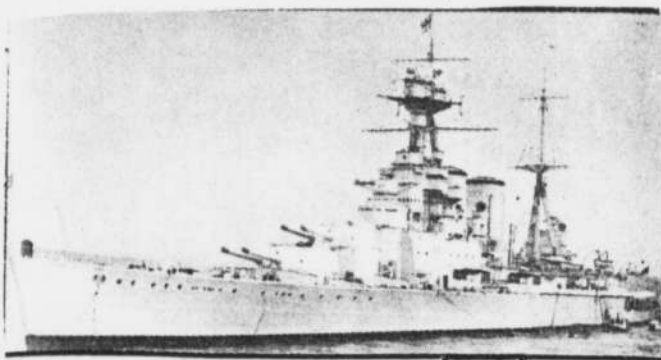

In 1940 saw the visit of the H.M.S. Glory to Sydney, but this time the Royal Navy was not on a goodwill visit.

During the War of 1939-45 The H.M.S. Golden Hind played in the Sydney Competition under the command of Lieutenant Morrison of the Royal Navy.

The H.M.S. Golden Hind was a very popular combination with the members of the sporting fraternity in Sydney.

The H.M.S. Golden Hind was made up of the following.

HMS Hood

Marines. N. Perry, R. Hunter, J. Bates also played with the H.M.S. Golden Hind, but were allowed to transfer to Newcastle where they played with the Wallsend Club on the Crystal Palace Ground. Through the Kindness of the historical branch of the British Admiralty has kindly given details of H.M.S. Repulse and Hood.

For this we are most GRATEFUL TO THE ROYAL NAVY.

H.M.S. HOOD

Summary of Service 1920 - 1930.

H.M.S. Hood was designed early in the first World War as a battle cruiser. Her keel was laid at the Clydebank shipyard of John Brown and Company, Limited, on 1st September, 1916, and she was launched on 2nd August, 1918, when the naming ceremony was performed by Lady Hood, widow of Rear Admiral the Hon. Sir Horace Hood KCB who was killed in action in H.M.S. INVINCIBLE at the battle of Jutland on the 31st May, 1916.

With a standard displacement of 42,100 tons, a length of 860 feet, and a beam of 105 feet, the Hood was the largest warship in the world, and as the Washington Naval Treaty of 1922 limited the displacement of capital ships to 35,000 tons she remained so as long as that treaty continued in force. Her main armament consisted of eight 15-inch guns mounted in four turrets, with an anti-aircraft armament of 4-inch guns mounted in four turrets, with anti-aircraft armament of 4-inch and lighter guns, and four torpedo tubes. Geared turbine engines of 144,000 horse-power gave her a designed speed of 31 knots, and her war complement included over 1,400 officers and men.

The Hood was completed on the 15th MAY, 1920, and became the flagship of the Battle Cruiser Squadron, then commanded by Rear-Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, this squadron formed part of the Atlantic Fleet, the name of which was changed in 1931 to the Home Fleet, and while its normal cruising area was in the waters around the British Isles it made periodical visits during exercise periods to the Baltic, to Gibraltar and the Western Mediterranean, and to the West Indies. In August and September, 1922, the Hood and Repulse represented the Royal Navy at Rio de Janeiro during the celebration of the centenary of the independence of Brazil.

In 1923-24 the Hood made a cruise round the world. She was the flagship of Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field, Commanding the Battle Cruiser Squadron, who was given command of a Special Service Squadron consisting of the battle cruisers Hood and Repulse and five cruisers of the first cruiser squadron to show the Flag in Dominion and foreign ports. Calls were made by the battle cruisers at Sierra Leone, Cape Town, East London, Port Elizabeth and Zanzibar. Crossing the Indian Ocean, Trincomalee, Port Swettenham and Singapore were visited. Going on to Australia, the battle cruisers called at Freemantle, Albany, Adelaide, Melbourne, Hobart, Jervis Bay, and Sydney. In New Zealand they visited Wellington and Auckland..

The return voyage began with calls at Suva and Samoa in the Fiji Islands. Honolulu was the first American port of call. Then came the British Columbian ports of Victoria and Vancouver. Passing through the Panama Canal, the ships visited Kingston (Jamaica) Halifax (Nova Scotia), Quebec, and Topsail Bay (Newfoundland) The whole cruise occupied ten months, from 27th November, 1923 to 29th September, 1924.

Between 1929 and 1931, the Hood underwent a large refit, re-commissioning in May, 1931, as flagship of the Battle Cruiser Squadron.

The squadron continued in the Home Fleet until 1937, when for a short time it formed part of the Mediterranean Fleet, the Hood acting as flagship of the second-in-command on that station, Vice-Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham (Later Lord-Cunningham of Hyndhope)

Summary of War Service 1939-1941

The outbreak of the second World War on 3rd September, 1939, found the Home Fleet at Scapa, in the Orkneys. She wore the flag of Rear-Admiral W.J. Whitworth, Commanding the Squadron. Her first action was with enemy aircraft which attacked the Fleet on 26th September, 1939, causing only slight superficial damage; two enemy aircraft were brought down. Among her various operations in the winter of 1939-40 was covering the first Canadian troop convoy, which arrived in the Clyde on the 17th December, 1939. On 8th March, 1940, Mr Churchill, then First Lord of the Admiralty, visited the Hood at Scapa and stayed the night on board. Shortly afterwards, the attitude of Italy made it necessary to send reinforcements to the Mediterranean and on 30th March the Hood left the Clyde to retube her condensers at Devonport and then to proceed to that station. These plans were modified when the Germans invaded Norway on 8th April, 1940, and the Hood remained in Home Waters after her refit.

On 28th June, 1940, eighteen days after Italy had entered the War, the Admiralty constituted a squadron known as Force H, based on Gibraltar, to prevent units of the Italian Fleet breaking out of the Mediterranean, and to operate offensively against the Italians. Vice Admiral Sir James Somerville was appointed in command and the Hood became his flagship. On 3rd July, she was present in the force which had the unpleasant but essential task of immobilising the French warships at Oran to prevent their falling into German hands. On 31st July, she left Gibraltar to assist in covering the first of many aircraft ferrying operations into Malta. Twelve Hurricane aircraft were flown from the carrier ARGUS on 2nd August from a position south west of Sardinia, and all reached Malta, although one crashed on landing.

The Hood then returned to England, the Renown replacing her as flagship of force H. She resumed her former duty as flagship of the Battle Cruiser Squadron, and took part in several operations of the Home Fleet.

On 12th November 1940, Vice-Admiral W.J. Whitworth, whose flag she wore became Second in Command of the Home Fleet. Early in 1941, Vice-Admiral Whitworth was selected to be Second Sea Lord of the Admiralty, and was succeeded in command of the Battle Cruiser Squadron by Vice-Admiral L.E. Holland, C.B.

SINK THE BISMARCK

On 21st May, 1941, when it became known that the German battleship BISMARCK had escaped into the Atlantic, the Hood, with the new battleship PRINCE OF WALES and six destroyers, was ordered to cover the cruiser and patrol in the Denmark Strait, between Greenland and Iceland. The ships left Scapa at 0050 on 22nd May. When the Bismark and cruiser Prince EUGEN were sighted on the evening of 23rd May, the HOOD's force was about 300 miles away, and Vice-Admiral Holland increased speed to 27 knots.

The BISMARCK was sighted at 0535 next morning, 24th May, about 17 miles away. At 0552, when the range was down to 25,000 yards, the Hood opened fire, followed a minute later by the Prince Of Wales. The Bismark replied quickly and accurately, straddling the Hood with her second or third salvo. A fire broke out and spread quickly. At 0600 THE BISMARCK HAD JUST FIRED HER FIFTH SALVO WHEN THE HOOD WAS RENT IN TWO BY A HUGE EXPLOSION, AND WITHIN THREE OR FOUR MINUTES HAD SUNK IN POSITION 63° 20' N, 31° 50' W. Only three survivors were picked up, and 1,418 officers and men lost their lives. The tragic loss of this fine ship with Vice-Admiral Holland, Captain Ralph Kerr, and so many officers and ratings was avenged on 27th May when the Bismark was sunk by other British ships.

She was awarded Battle Honour 'Bismark' 1942

H.M.S. REPULSE
Summary Of Service.

H.M.S. Repulse was a battle cruiser built by John Brown & Co. Ltd, Clydebank. She was laid down on 25th January, 1915, launched on 8th January 1916, and completed on 7th August 1916. With a displacement of 32,000 tons she had a designed speed of 31½ knots, and the main armament consisted of six 15 inch guns.

She served in the Grand Fleet during the first World War. Between the two wars the REPULSE was in the Home Fleet and Mediterranean Fleet, and was detached from time to time for special cruisers, such as that of the Squadron under Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field which went round the world in 1923-24.

On the outbreak of the Second World War on 3rd September, 1939, the Repulse was in the Battle Cruiser Squadron, Home Fleet, at sea, having left Scapa on patrol on 31st August. During the first week of the War she cruised between the Shetlands and Norway to intercept any German ships returning to Germany, and to exercise contraband control.

She was detached from the Home Fleet in November, 1939, to assist in covering Atlantic convoys against attacks from German surface raiders. In December of that year she escorted to the United Kingdom the first Canadian troop convoy.

During April, 1940, she was operating in Norwegian waters, and when H.M.S. SUFFOLK was damaged in air attack at Stavanger, the Repulse escorted her to Scapa, where she was beached.

She covered a raid on Jan Mayen Island in November, 1940, when a German scientific expedition was captured and the wireless station in Jameson Bay burnt down. A month later she was protecting minelayers employed laying a minefield off the south east coast of Iceland.

On the 21st May 1941, when the Bismark and the PRINZ EUGEN were first sighted steaming northward out of the Kattegat, the REPULSE was at ~~the was at~~ the ready standing by to escort a troop convoy to the Middle East and India. Leaving immediately, she met a strong force led by the Commander in Chief Home Fleet in the KING GEORGE V off the Butt of Lewis on the morning of the 23rd for the first stage of the hunt for the enemy ships. Unfortunately, she had to be detached to Newfoundland to refuel on the morning of the 25th and had not returned by the time the BISMARCK had been sunk on the 27th May.

A few months later, it was decided to send her to the far East with H.M.S. PRINCE OF WALES. Arriving at Capetown in October, 1941, the Repulse was transferred to the East Indies Station, where she joined force 'G' and proceeded to Colombo, arriving on 22nd November.

On December 8th she left Singapore with a force consisting of H.M.S. PRINCE OF WALES and four destroyers, to attack an enemy force off Kota., two days later off Kuantan they were attacked by nine enemy high level bombers. All ships opened fire, but soon the REPULSE was hit and a fire started. Thirty minutes later she was attacked by another wave of nine torpedo bombers and several high level bombers. During the third attack she was bombed amidships and her steering gear jammed.

Soon afterwards she was torpedo and began list heavily, and sank in another six minutes in position 3° 45' N. 10° 24' E.

H.M.S. REPULSE WAS AWARDED THE FOLLOWING BATTLE HONOURS

Norway	1940

VICTORY MATCHES

By "The Onlooker"

STATE Soccer Council expects this morning to complete arrangements for a British services team to meet a Northern side in a victory match on the second of the two holidays to celebrate peace. A match will be played in Sydney on the first day. The British team will then come North.

A State Councillor (Mr. F. Roy Druery) said that if the holidays were at the end of the week it would probably be necessary to revise the position. The council had its own programme to complete.

"Most councillors favour playing special matches during the celebrations, so we might postpone our competitions," said Mr. Druery. "We have kept to our schedule this season, which will end earlier than usual, so we could afford to lose a day."

The State Cup final between West Wallsend and Metters is set down next Saturday for Sydney Cricket Ground No. 2. The Northern premiership play-off between Wallsend and Swansea-Belmont will be played at Adamstown.

Swansea-Belmont and Wallsend finished level in the Northern premiership competition. They have to play to decide the premiership winner and will meet again for the right to play Canterbury-Bankstown in the Priest Cup final.

It has been suggested that they meet in the first match on Saturday, and play the Priest Cup semi-final at Wallsend on Sunday. Wallsend is said to be willing. Swansea-Belmont will consider the position. If these two matches were played the competition could be completed by Saturday week.

The Miller Cup would then remain to be played. It is between the winners of the Sydney Cup and Daniels Cup. The Stevenson Cup, now in the semi-final stage, also remains to be played in the North but is not under direct jurisdiction of the State Council.

Speed Won Day

West Wallsend's Soccer style is not polished, but is particularly effective. The team trusts to its speed and drive. That is good policy when the speed can be maintained. West Wallsend's players did not once slacken on Saturday when they defeated Granville in the Cup semi-final. Granville was the more cultured side but fell into the error of trying to match speed with speed and had to surrender.

West Wallsend's players must now intensify their training. They will have to be at the top of their condition for next Saturday's final against Metters. If they are prepared for that match they have every chance of winning.

West Wallsend was a much different proposition yesterday when it lost 3-1 to Swansea-Belmont in the Stevenson Cup match. But West Wallsend seemed to be taking matters easily and players no doubt were more intent on preserving wind and limb for next Saturday's test.

MAY END SOCCER WITH KNOCK-OUT

By "The Onlooker"

A SUGGESTION by Leichhardt Annandale Soccer Club that the State Council should organise a Victory knockout competition is generally favoured in the North.

It is proposed that the 10 State clubs take part in a competition similar to the State Cup, but that the matches be played on consecutive Saturdays. It is suggested that in the first round Northern sides should meet Sydney teams.

The proposal should meet little opposition. It would need only four Saturdays to complete. Soccer has ended its season in record time. There are only a few matches yet to play, and it is expected that all but one will be played on a Sunday.

The State Council should adopt the idea.

Wallsend Fails

Wallsend's bid to win the State premiership, so remote two months ago, failed in the final against Canterbury-Bankstown on Saturday. Wallsend lost 3-0. It did much better than many Northern enthusiasts expected, either that or Canterbury-Bankstown is not the brilliant side its performances against other Southern sides suggested. Wallsend is no more than a fair side.

The teams meet again next Sunday in the final of the Priest Cup. If the Victory competition is not played, this match may be brought forward to Saturday.

British Services team gave a display of cultured football in the match against Northern District at Wallsend. It ended in a full draw. The Services team displayed form sufficiently good to suggest it was a much better side. Had it not become suddenly weak when near North's goal, it could have scored more than one goal.

The match was little more than a pleasing exhibition, with enthusiasts being given a good demonstration of soccer made easy when the Englishmen had the ball in midfield. The Northern players did well and kept the game moving.

The match demonstrated once more the futility of selecting 11 players to present the district and expecting them to play brilliant football without having at least one practice run.

"CHARLIE STEWART — THE PLAYER WHO CAME BACK"

by Crombie-Gray.

When Sydney selectors chose a 17-year-old youngster in the South team to meet North in the regular Ogilvie Cup match in 1945, critics scoffed. "Why, they've dropped Tommy Iredale for a mere slip of a kid!" was their unkind comment. Admittedly, to some the selection came as a shock but Charlie Stewart of Woonona-Bulli had earned his selection.

He played brilliantly in that match, scoring a goal which enabled South to force a 4-all draw. Many of his former disgruntled critics left the S.C.G. No. 2 after the game with a changed outlook. "Well, perhaps it was a good selection," they argued, "but mind you, they will burn the kid out before he is much older if he plays representative football. Why not let him alone with his club for four or five seasons and then bring him back to show his worth?"

State selectors did not heed this advice. In 1946 they chose Stewart in the New South Wales team to tour Queensland. He played against Queensland in Brisbane and his accurate crosses from the right wing aided colleague Reg Date to bag home eight "scorchers" in 10-2 victory for the Blues.

1947 was a season of mixed feelings for Stewart—bringing first elation, then disappointment. Early in the season he played for New South Wales against the South Africans and performed creditably. This led to his selection in the team for the First Test. But Stewart could never overcome the sound, copybook defence of the South African left-back, Don McCreadie. At times Stewart would beat his rival with clever footwork only to find his path blocked by the ever vigilant centre-half Naish. Selectors retained him for the Second Test in Brisbane, but whilst Stewart desperately tried he was unable to master the solid defence.

Stewart was omitted from the Australian side for the remainder of the season in favour of diminutive Lake Macquarie winger, Dickie Kemp, only 19 years of age and already tried and found wanting it seemed as if the predictions of the critics had some foundation after all. Indeed he was not only dropped for the rest of the season but discarded by the selectors of representative teams for the next five years. In these five years he missed selection against the Yugoslavians and Englishmen and was passed over for two tours—the 1948 trip to New Zealand and the 1950 visit to South Africa. But never in this period did Stewart give up hope of regaining his position in the Australian side.

1952 brought the turning point to his misfortune. His constantly sound displays in club football apparently influenced the selectors to give him another chance. He was chosen in the New South Wales team to participate in the All States' Carnival in Melbourne. Stewart realised this was his big chance to re-establish himself and he made full use of it.

The following season he played for New South Wales against the visiting Chinese team, netted two great goals, and a week later found himself restored to the Australian side. What an amazing comeback! Discarded at 19 for no less than five seasons only to fight his way back to the top at 26. How he proved those critics wrong—even if they had five seasons in which to say, "I told you so".

Last season Stewart again represented Australia this time against New Zealand. He played in the final two tests, notching two goals in the Second and contributing greatly to a 4-1 Australian victory.

So far this year Stewart has not gained selection for either Australia or New South Wales against the two visiting sides. But for the South Coast against China he played soundly and there is still time for him to regain his Australian representation. After all, though, he's been "up" since 1944 and he is only 26.

Stewart reckons he has five years of top flight football left yet and with the dirth of good wing talent he might yet regain his old position. Who knows?

Lysaghts-Orb Seeks Admission To State Soccer League

By "CELTIC"

The first amateur soccer club for many seasons—Lysaghts-Orb—has made application to join the State League (Northern Division) for the 1946 season.

The team's secretary (Mr. L. Allen of Mayfield) said this morning that the club had forwarded an application, which he thought would be dealt with by the State Association directors this weekend at their postponed meeting to be held in Newcastle.

Mr. Jack Pitt, one of the team's organisers, said that a unique aspect about the application is that both the officials and players wished to retain their amateur status.

No Bonus

This means that the players will receive only travelling and meal expenses and will not accept any bonus for playing.

Such a decision by a club is interesting in the light that Soccer is one of the outstanding sports at the Olympic Games, and the desire by the Commonwealth Association officials that this country should participate in the next series.

Mr. Allen further said that the Lysaghts-Orb team had won the Newcastle senior premiership last season and the standard of play warranted an opportunity to reveal its worth in the top ranks.

The club had many fine players in P. Docherty, S. North, P. Berand, J. Smith, S. Reid, A. Stewart, H. Humphries, J. Allen while several other prominent juniors would also join in the near future.

If admitted the club's management committee will go straight ahead to secure an enclosed ground. The club had in the past never failed to carry out its obligations and is only in the game for the same's sake.

Vital Decisions

The directors of the New South Wales Soccer Association will meet in Newcastle on Saturday and Sunday. It is anticipated that many vital decisions concerning next season's competitions will be made.

With the end of the war HMS Golden Hind returned home with other ships of the Royal Navy. and we thank them for their participation in our football.

The Ships and crews of the Royal Navy were very well received by all players and the public alike.

The pity of it all is that we cannot have a team like these people playing in our competition all the time.

Thank you once again to the ships of the navy.

LEICHHARDT'S SOCCER TITLE

Leichhardt Soccerites won the Southern Division premiership yesterday with a grand victory over the strong Woonona team, 2-1. The Redshirts owe their success to the sterling displays of Grieves, Marston and Parkes in defence.

Parkes and Marston tackled like demons. They completely demoralised Woonona's forwards. Marston had Rumley covered all through and never allowed the centre to settle down.

Another slashing display by Leichhardt's half-back line, Hankin, Townsend and Mounser, helped in their victory.

Mounser is a tiger for work, and completely overshadowed State winger C. Stewart.

Woonona had their chances, but could not adapt themselves to the windy conditions.

Their positional play was bad. At no stage could they cope with the fast-moving opposition forwards.

Phillips was too slow in the vital centre-half position. If McMahon had been in goal-scoring form he would have had a field day.

W. Fitzsimmons was the best of an ordinary bunch of forwards.

Both goalkeepers Grieves (Leichhardt) and Worthington gave outstanding exhibitions.

J. Marston.

and played a great game for the Stovies. Drummond gave his usual sound display, while Iredale and Delaney stood out in the forwards.

Leichhardt 2 (Robertson, Ridley), beat Woonona 1 (Rumley).

Metters 5 (Wynn 2, Booth, Iredale, Bannister), beat Drummoyne 4 (Cuthbertson 2, Hamilton, Duggan).

Canterbury 1 (Thornton 3, Date 2, Hughes 2), beat North Shore 3 (Murphy, Brown, V. Murray through own goal).

Granville 2, drew with Corrimal 2.

Oldest player Aids Leichhardt

Leichhardt's oldest player, Jock Parkes, 37, helped them win their first State Soccer premiership yesterday.

They beat West Wallsend 2-1 at Arington Oval, before the season's record crowd of 9000.

Leichhardt-Annandale were playing their fourth State premiership final.

Parkes, a former international, was playing in his 300th first-grade game.

He played at centre-half, although he had played at left-back throughout the season.

Parkes was switched to the new position to replace Ray Ridley, who fractured a collarbone in a match at Newcastle last Saturday.

He was the best player on the ground, and Len Stedman (21), who took Parkes' place at left-back, proved Leichhardt-Annandale's find of the season.

Parkes scored the first goal of the match 15 minutes after the start.

He got under a lofty free-kick 15 yards from the goal, and headed the ball over three backs and the goalkeeper into the net.

WESTY WALLOPED IN SOCCER THRILLER

Leichhardt-Annandale won the State Soccer premiership with a thrilling 2-1 victory against West Wallsend yesterday at Arington Park.

A record crowd of 10,000 saw one of the hardest-fought-out finals in years.

At one stage, Leichhardt had a 2-0 lead.

In a fighting finish, Westy did everything but score.

They must be considered unlucky to lose.

The sterling defence of the locals won them the game.

Len Stedman, playing in the back-line, was the best player on the ground.

His tackling at times was tigerish, while his cover defence saved his team on numerous occasions.

He was ably supported by J. Marston and K. Grieves, in goal.

Veteran's Success

This pair at times rose to great heights, and must be considered a big factor in the defeat of their rivals.

Veteran "Jock" Parkes, who moved from full-back to centre half, was a big success.

He gave his forwards a feast of the ball, his quick thinking and anticipation often turning defence into attack.

Townsend scored one of the finest goals ever seen on the ground. He finished off a movement, started by McMahon and Glasson, with a fast-rising shot that never gave Baker a chance.

Wingers James and Robertson were good. Inside supports Glasson and Townsend did everything right.

West Wallsend had their chances, but their forwards were not quite good enough.

Penman tried hard, but spoilt his good play with many doubtful tactics that penalised his team.

Bowie made the mistake of "spotting" Robertson, and as a result often left Glasson and McMahon with all the ground to move in. After a very shaky start, goalkeeper C. Baker showed magnificent form, his spectacular clearances bringing roars of applause from the large crowd.

Newcastle referee W. McWilliams stole the show, his interpretations of the advantage rule being a feature.

Leichhardt-Annandale 2 (Parkes, Townsend); West Wallsend 1 (Penman).
 Canterbury 3 beat Adamstown 2.

£30 WINDFALL FOR PLAYERS

Leichhardt Soccer players received a pleasant surprise after their great win against West Wallsend in the State Championship final yesterday.

A Mr. Hill, unknown to officials of the club, walked into the dressing-rooms and handed Mr. Orr, secretary, £30 to be divided among the players.

The players earned their welcome reward, every man pulling his weight in a hard, fast game.

English Offers Likely For Soccer Stars 3/9/46

English Soccer Clubs may soon be bidding for the services of outstanding Australian players.

This is suggested by the fact that Royal Navy men here during the war and since have given glowing reports to English clubs of the standards of Soccer now being played in Australia, and the prowess of individual exponents.

One such observer is Lieutenant-Commander W. R. Goss, R.N., who saw Canterbury-Bankstown and Adamstown play the State Cup final last Saturday. It was the first time he had seen Soccer played in Australia.

On his programme he marked off the names of Reg. Date, champion Canterbury centre forward, and D. Williams, Adamstown left-half.

He is sending the programme to a prominent Soccer Club official in England.

The lieutenant-commander said he would advise the official that players of the quality of Date and Williams would be an asset to any English club.

Good Judge

He should be a good judge, because he was secretary-manager of Southampton Soccer Club for 16 successive years.

Australian officials are anxious that English clubs should be told of the present standard here so that they might be encouraged to send teams here.

Such visits from clubs and international teams, with astute managers, might have results disconcerting to Australian clubs.

Big English clubs do not hesitate to pay up to £10,000 for the transfer of a player they want.

They could get valuable material in Australia, promising young players, for a few hundred pounds.

In a few years with expert coaching, they could be made champions.

The Good Old Day's

Funny things did happen in the day's of Inter-City Football

It is worth recalling the funny things that happened during the years of inter city football.

Take for example when we had to play at Woonona Bulli or Corrimal on the beautiful South Coast.

We would leave home around 5 or 5.30am on the day of the match, and, depending on the number of supporters going you would either go by Bus or on the big Trailer buses.

Now it was quite common for the trip to take 8-9 hours or longer, many times you would arrive at the ground with enough time to go to the toilet and then straight onto the field. Having dressed in the back of the bus, and, if you needed a rub you got that coming down the Bulli Pass.

Well you might say "Why" did the trip take so long.? You see we had no Free Ways like we have today, there were not many cars on the road either. But the mode of transport was not very reliable.

The long haul for these buses created many problems, "Flat tyres, Engines overheating the buses struggling to get over the mountains 'it was alright going down hill where we made up some lost time. You had many comfort stops, Travel sickness, THEIR WERE many problems on the day of the match for the visiting team.

Return Journey

After the match and you started the return journey home you could expect much of the same, "But" if you won then the trip home was much more bearable, but how much worse could it be, well during those long cold wet winter evenings you had to find somewhere to eat, and, remember the Hotels closed at 6pm and not many eating places were open either.

By the time we reached Gosford if the bus had not broken down again it was getting close to midnight and your starving you'll eat anything if you could find that shop.

Whenever you needed a comfort stop on the way home around Ourimbah Gosfeord, Wyong area it was always outside an Orange Orchard ???.

But when we reached Kangy Angy a little cafe was always open till very very late and we knew we could get something to eat, and here a bus load of weary travellers, hungry and cold was assured of a meal.

Now after about an hour break we are on our final leg home and with a little luck we could expect to be in bed in 2½ to 3 hours time.

The poor old bus driver has had a very long and tiring day, most of the passengers are now having a snooze except the team manager who will keep the bus driver company.

After a while we reach Swansea some asks the driver how long before we reach Broadmeadow, and there the bus emptys again at the "Eastlakes Pie Van opposite the Century Picture Theatre, where those delicious pies with peas on top are available with lots of Tomato Sauce for Four Pence each.

Many a young fellow would hop off the tram at the TRAM STOP a dash to the pie van, and then reboard the tram

We all know that well soon be home.
Next day being Sunday or if you like "Later in the day we will more than likely line up for a State Cup Match.

Now on the other side, if we played in Sydney at Lambert
Park things would be a little more relaxed.
More than likely we would all travel down by train the 7am Inter-City Express from Newcastle arriving at Central station between 10 and 10.30am.
Here some of the boys would head off to the races till around 2pm and then grab a taxi to the ground.
After the match another scramble to catch the tram to Broadway The Flyer left Central about 5.30pm
We had time to get something to eat mostly you could get a couple of pints of prawns around 2/- a pint (Prawns in those days were sold in pints) We knew also that when we reached the Hawkesbury River Station the Oyster Sellers would come through the carriages selling those lovely Oysters at around 1/- a bottle.

Now bottled beer was still in short supply, and some players who were courting were anxious to get back to Cardiff Dance.
It was so much much better if you could get off the train at Cockle Creek and catch a bus to Cardiff than go into Newcastle.

"But" their were two problems the flyer did not stop at Cockle Creek or at Cardiff Railway Station, "But wait"
I did say that bottled beer was still in short supply, and driving those big steam engines must have been hot and thirsty work.??

Those steam engines had to slow down crossing the Cockle Creek Bridge because this bridge has been under repair for a number of years.

"BUT, BUT"

On certain Saturdays the train drivers would go a little slower over this bridge just slow enough for 5 or 6 people to jump off.?? and get to the Cardiff dance.

Haircut- Clean Shirt.

Now when you played away at Lambert Park, Arlington Oval Granville Lidcombe Oval your mother and father would always remind you that you had better get a Haircut (You always had a Haircut every two weeks anyway) MAKE sure your shoes are "KIWI" Clean, Mum made sure you had a nice clean shirt and clean underwear. Of course this was in the days before Mums and Dads would tell their children it was time they move out into a flat.??

These days, a pair of old thongs, Hair trim every 6 months (If your lucky) who cares about your appearance, you must have a chain around your neck, Ear rings, Oh yes
a nose roll and some have a tongue tie.

Did't I say Funny things happen. , what a pity we dont have more mums and dads checking on their children like it used to be, no telling your children it was time to move out.
Our dress sense leaves a lot to be desired and our respect for one another also.

South Africa Tour Australia and would bring the Third Back Back Game.

This season was to have a dramatic effect on Football in NSW., as the South Africans play the Third Fullback which was quite different to our style.

But before the season was to end many clubs had adopted this style of football, none better than the Granville Club,
 But it would not be till 1949 that all Northern Clubs would adopt this style, All except West Wallsend who would continue with the WMS system, using the attacking Centre Half.
 South Africa brought many fine players in its team, none better than its captain Horace Smethurst, who was a former Infantry Lieutenant and Military Cross winner.

The springboks was a star studded combination.

Fourteen of the chosen 18 players saw service in North Africa and Italy during the 1939-1945 War.

Four of the team were Prisoners of War.

The babies of the team were S.O. Linn(19) of the Western Province and D. Forbes(20) of Southern Transvaal.

The Touring were

Horace Smethurst (Capt) J. Pickerskill, C. Kurland, D. Wilson,
 H. Naish, Charlie Brink, H. Pretories, R. Ferriman, D. McCredie,
 D. Forbes, B. Clack, S. Van Rensburg, R. Nicholson, J. Classens, G. Falconer, E. Dowdell, L. Anley, S.O. Linn.

Most of the players were good at other sports. Pickerskill, played Cricket, Hockey for Transvaal, O'Linn represented his province at Cricket.

Clack and Ferriman both played Water Polo for Transvaal. Smethurst played Water Polo and Hockey for Natal.

Kurland, Brink and Naish played Hockey for Pretoria.

Anley was a first grade Cricketer for Maritzburg.

SPRINGBOKS WIN AGAIN; HOPES FOR TEST GAME

From Our Special Reporter

WOLLONGONG, Wednesday. — The Springboks maintained their unbeaten record with a 2-1 win over the strong South Coast team here to-day.

They are now more confident than ever of their chances in the first Test against Australia at the Cricket Ground on Saturday.

HARD, FAST, AND CLOSE GAME

Play was hard, fast, and close throughout.

South Coast played a vigorous, hustling game, but the Springboks were too fast and clever.

The South Africans experienced difficulty on the small and bumpy ground, but played attractive Soccer.

Rugged play by the South Coast team upset many of the neat moves of the Springboks.

South Coast members of the Australian Test team for Saturday, C. Stewart, E. Drain, and J. Cunningham, were inconspicuous, Drain in particular being most subdued.

Goalkeeper J. Jenkins, of South

Coast, was brilliant and prevented the Springboks from adding to the score on many occasions. His exhibition was of Test Match standard.

C. Brink, G. Falconer, and L. Anley were South African stars, but centre-forward Basil Clack, was unimpressive.

Merv. Behan scored early for South Coast. F. Falconer equalised for South Africa just before half-time. In the second half L. Anley scored for South Africa.

The match created exceptional interest and the crowd of 5,524 was a record.

Gate takings were £641/4/— £121 more than a similar game against the English team in 1937.

Players lined up and observed a minute's silence before the play in memory of the late Mr. Jack Scott, leading referee and official.

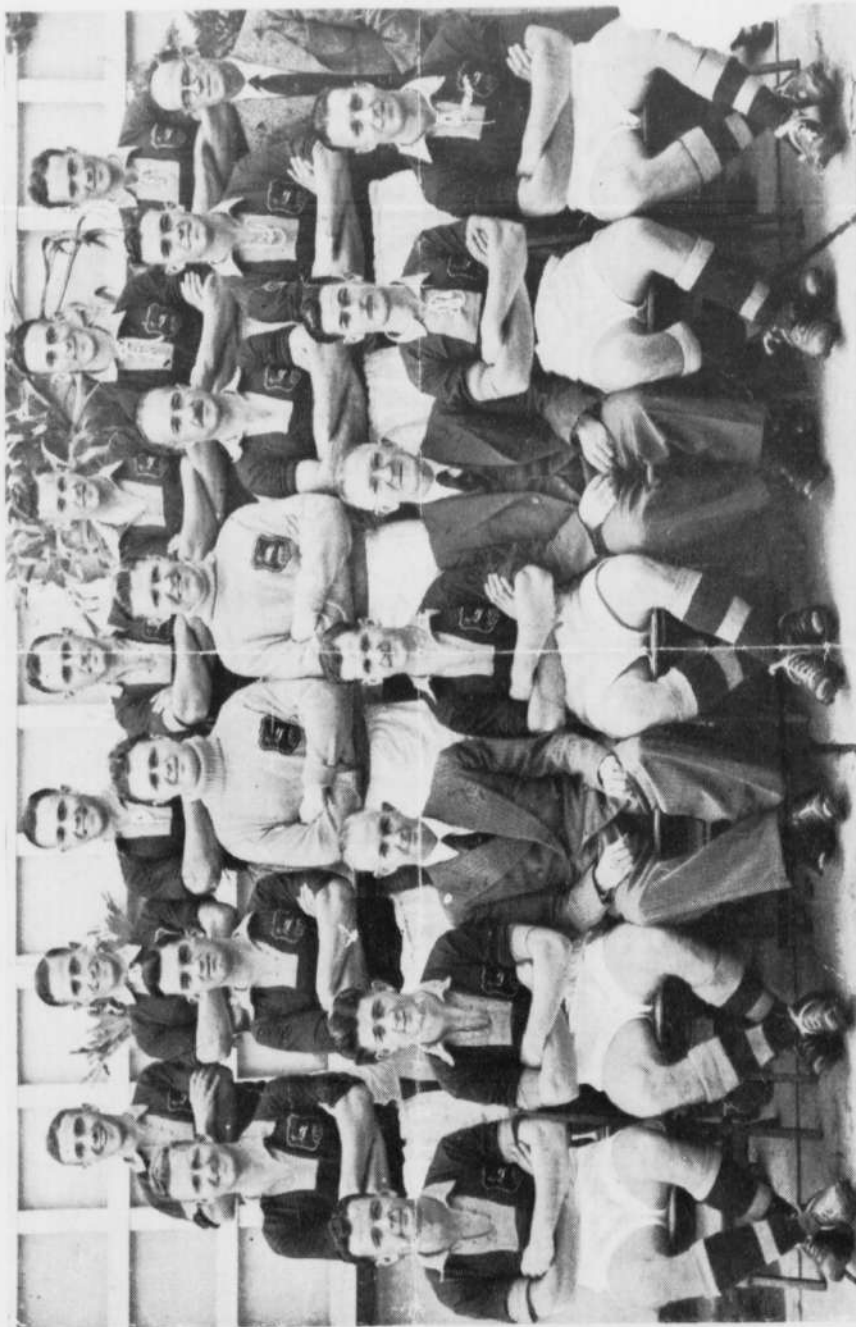

The teams were:—

SOUTH COAST: J. Jenkins, F. Ward, F. Bracewell, L. Gordon, R. Barwise, R. Young, G. Stewart, E. Drain, M. Behan, J. Cunningham, E. Rowles.

SOUTH AFRICA: C. Brink, R. Nicholson, D. McCreadie, S. Van Rensburg, R. Ferriman, H. Pretorius, D. Wilson, F. Falconer, B. Clack, S. O'Linn, L. Anley.

Date takes battering, collapses near end; win to South Africa

From GEORGE CRAWFORD

BRISBANE, Sat.—Australian Soccer captain, Reg Date, took a battering in today's second Test against South Africa, and collapsed 16 minutes from the end.

DATE TAKES battering, collapses near end; win to South Africa.

Brisbane, Sat.-Australian captain, Reg Date, took a battering in today's second Test against South Africa, and collapsed 16 minutes from the end.

South Africa won 4-2 after the scores had been level, 1-1, at half-time.

Date, who scored both goals for Australia, made a gallant bid to avert defeat.

He collapsed just as he kicked the goal which reduced South Africa's lead to 3-2.

Date dropped to the ground, and did not see the ball flash past South Africa's goalkeeper, Jim Pickerill.

He received a bump on the back of the head.

Date played on after he had received first-aid attention, but was "groggy" for the rest of the match.

He was playing inside-right when he collapsed.

Date had taken a battering from South Africa's third back defence game, and changed his forward line in the second half to try and effect a counter.

He switched himself from centre-forward to inside-right, A. Heaney from inside-right to inside-left, and Ron Hughes from inside-left to centre-forward.

The switch was made 16 minutes after the start of the second half, when South Africa was leading 3-1.

The South African third-back formation continued to baffle Australia's attack, and Date reverted the players to their original positions 10 minutes from the end.

Date was equally as well marked at inside-right as he was at centre-forward.

The match became South Africa versus Date almost from the start.

Date said after the match: "It was my toughest experience in football, but I tried my hardest.

"I am not yet convinced that South Africa is better than Australia.

"I learned much today, and I am confident that I will have a counter for South Africa's third-back game before the Third Test in Sydney next Saturday."

Date Shadowed

South Africa's centre-half, Ray Ferriman, who became the third back, "shadowed" Date throughout the match.

Date also had to cope with right-half Cec Kurland, who did double work watching the centre-half position as well as his own.

Australia's first goal resulted from South Africa's determination to stop Date.

Kurland back-charged Date in the penalty area after seven minutes' play, and Date scored from the penalty kick.

Australia monopolised play in the first 20 minutes.

If Pickerill had been a less accomplished goalkeeper, Australia would have led at half-time.

Pickerill made three excellent saves from shots by Date and Heaney.

One was a fluke save. Pickerill thrust out his leg and intercepted a powerful shot from Date.

South Africa began to play its best football after 25 minutes, and bombarded the Australian goal.

Australia's goalkeeper, Norman Conquest, and backs Joe Marston and Cec Drummond, provided a strong defence, but they had to concede four corner-kicks in two minutes to get out of difficulty.

Conquest brought off a wonderful save when South Africa's inside-right, Gordon Falconer, beat four men and dribbled the ball to within three yards of the goalkeeper before he shot.

Conquest went down on the ball, and diverted it wide at the goal-posts.

South African centre-forward, Basil Clack, missed several scoring chances with weak shooting.

But a South African score was imminent, and it came when Len Anley carried the ball in from the left wing and beat Conquest with a long high shot.

Reckless Kicking

Early in the second half Australia looked like crumbling.

Marston and Drummond maintained a solid defence, but the halves began to kick recklessly.

Horace Smethurst gave South Africa the lead, 2-1, five minutes after half-time.

Then Falconer scored with a long shot 20 minutes later, and Australia rallied.

Date's second goal stung the South Africans, who seemed to fear their third-back game had been mastered.

Their forwards swung into action and bombarded the Australian goal.

Clack scored South Africa's fourth goal five minutes from the end.

Attendance was 12,500.

'TACTFUL'SOCCER MOVE*Selector's View Of Date's CaptaincyFrom GEORGE CRAWFORD*

BRISBANE, Tuesday.—The appointment of Reg Date as Australia's Soccer Test captain was a tactful move, Mr. J. Peebles, a selector, said tonight.

Date will lead Australia in the Second Test against South Africa at Brisbane Cricket Ground on Saturday.

Date had his first experience as a captain last Sunday when he led South against North at Wallsend.

Mr. Peebles said: "We believe the responsibilities of captaincy will inspire Date to even greater deeds."

"He is a great footballer, and a worry to the South Africans."

Alex Heaney, who led Australia in the First Test, which South Africa won, 2-1, is not upset at losing the captaincy to Date.

Heaney and Date are close friends.

Mr. Peebles said that the Australian team would not have a coach.

"The appointment of a coach was discussed, but officials concerned decided that a coach might put the Australians off their natural game," he added.

Visitor's Tribute

The South Africans are not worried about suggestions that the Australians may switch Date from centre-forward to inside-right at the last minute.

Mr. Harry Rosenberg, a visitor travelling with the South Africans, believes that Date is one of the best centre-forwards in Soccer.

He said: "The Australians would make a big sacrifice if they transferred Date to another position."

"Date has had eight shots at goal in his four matches against South Africa, and has scored seven times."

"A miraculous save by our goalkeeper, Jimmy Pickerill, cost Date his eighth goal."

New South Wales' members of Australia's Test team arrived in Brisbane by plane tonight.

They found that O'Linn kicked better with his right than his left-foot in last Saturday's match against Queensland.

Tomorrow's match will be played at night under floodlights at Brisbane Exhibition Ground.

O'Linn, 20, is the team's "baby."

He played outside-left last Saturday, but was switched to the right flank when the team was recast after left-back C. McCreadie, who was injured, returned to the field.

O'Linn's crosses with his right foot were powerful and accurate.

The team manager, Mr. J. Barbour, said today: "Each of our seven forwards has turned out an excellent utility player."

"Because of this, we have no trouble in filling the vacancy when a man is injured."

Outside-right Don Wilson will play centre-forward tomorrow night so that Basil Clark can rest.

Wilson switched to centre-forward on May 1, when Johnny Classens was injured against an Australian XI in Melbourne.

Brisbane's centre-half, N. Robins, has withdrawn from the match because of injury.

EQUALS SOCCER RECORD

South African's 3 Goals In 3 Min.

From GEORGE CRAWFORD

BRISBANE, Wednesday. — South African forward D. Wilson tonight equalled a world record for first-class Soccer when he scored three goals in three minutes.

South Africa defeated Brisbane 9-1 at Brisbane Exhibition Ground in a match played under flood-lights and in heavy rain.

Hurt, Off Field

Wilson scored four goals during the match.

Wilson, an outside-right, played centre-forward tonight so that Basil Clark could have his first rest of the tour.

Wilson said later that it was only his second game as a centre-forward.

Wilson equalled the record a few minutes before half-time, and gave South Africa a 3-1 lead.

He did not know he had equalled the record until told about it in the dressing-room after the match.

Team-mates then congratulated him. Only twice before in major Soccer—in England—has a player scored three goals in three minutes.

Midway through the second half, Wilson received a cut over the right eye and was off the field for five minutes.

The injury will not keep him out of Saturday's Second Test in Brisbane.

Brisbane played better football than the scores indicate.

The Souths' poor shooting cost Brisbane at least three goals.

Brisbane's A. Duncan and H. Crewdson were outstanding and broke up many South African forward moves during the second half.

South Africa's positional play was superb.

Because of this, the South Africans gave the impression they were taking the game easily.

There was at all times a man in position to take a pass.

Attendance was about 2500.

Nothing To Spare In South Africa's Win

By "The Onlooker"

The North's Soccer team of hits and pieces yesterday came within an ace of being the first team in Australia to defeat South Africa.

South Africa won 3-1, but it was not until the ill-trained, poorly arranged Northern team gave up the fight on a glue-pot ground that South Africa was able to assert its final crushing superiority.

A missed penalty kick in the first half—plus the failure of the controlling bodies to give the Northern players more than an hour together before the game started—led to the defeat.

The North held territorial advantage for more than half the game but its condition gave out when there was still 25 minutes left for play.

With South Africa leading 1-nil, the North was awarded a penalty kick. Hodgins, with a good drive, hit the post. Had his kick been an inch nearer the mark the North would have been level. At the time it was the better side. It had 80 per cent. of the play in that half and more than that in the first 15 minutes of the second half.

Had it reached equality with the penalty kick it is difficult to say what might have happened. But it is certain that the North would have been on top.

It continued its challenge until the second half had lasted 15 minutes, when its main line of play, the half-back squad, worn to a frazzle on a ground more suited to mudpies than football, broke down under the strain.

From that point South Africa took charge and finished much the better side.

Condition Told

South Africa won because it was better conditioned. The North lost because officials feared to spend a penny on assembling players, who did not meet for the first time as a team until an hour before the match.

What might have happened had the Northern players been quartered for a week, given the chance to practice as a side and discuss tactics is conjecture. The South Africans admit this was the hardest team they have faced in Australia.

South Africa did not field its strongest side, but its manager (Mr. J. Barbour) said last night that any team which could hold the team fielded as well as did the North yesterday was a side to be respected.

The North had its chances, but missed them. That was due to lack of practice. The fact remains that in the first half the North sent in 14 difficult shots without scoring.

Allied to this was the fact that C. Brinke, the South African goalkeeper, played above himself. Brought to this country as a young goalkeeper who deserved his chance, Brinke has been a disappointment. Yesterday few goalkeepers could have excelled him.

Coote Outstanding

The Northern players did much better in the heavy going than they do in club matches.

Australian selectors present must have wondered how they came to leave David Coote, of Adamstown, out of the fourth Test team. He was the outstanding player on the field.

One Australian selector told me after the match that he wished he had to make the selection for the fourth Test last night. There would have been a difference in the Australian side.

He added that he would make some recommendations for the fifth Test. He can only mean that Coote has been wrongly omitted from the next Test side.

SOCCER SERIES KEPT ALIVE WITH EASY WIN

Record Crowd At Test

THE crowd at the fourth Test between Australia and South Africa at Newcastle Sports Ground on Saturday was a record for a Soccer match in the North, said the Secretary of the Australian Association (Mr. P. R. Drury). He said that 13,442 people paid for admission. About 800 did not pay.

By "The Onlooker"

By defeating South Africa 5-1—a well merited and just margin—in the fourth Soccer Test at Newcastle Sports Ground on Saturday Australia has kept the series alive.

If Australia wins the fifth Test the rubber will be divided. Australia has retained the winning team, with a slightly different formation, for next Saturday's Test.

Australia won well, after South Africa equalised at half, almost as soon as the second half began. The victory in the end was crushing.

South Africa was beaten in the second half at its own game—positional play. The weakness of its third back game was also thoroughly revealed.

The only change in the Australian team for the Test next Saturday is in the position in the forward line. The attack will line up for Saturday's match as it finished last Saturday. Date will play center-forward instead of inside-right, his selected position in the fourth Test. Hughes will be inside left instead of centre-forward, and Cunningham will play inside-right, instead of inside-left. This, on Saturday's form, is a much more convincing distribution of Australia's main attacking force.

Factors in the Australian success were—

●It was, at last, a well conditioned side, much better equipped physically.

●It had found a convincing counter to South Africa's third back game. It had to do with bottling up of the opposition wing half-backs.

●It was a side that not only matched the great pace South Africa set from the start, but which was, when South Africa faltered in the second half, able itself to accelerate.

●For a change Australia played as a team.

●It had the best forward seen in Australia for many years, R. Date. He is a magnificent driving force and a match winner in any side.

Must Be Fit

The match proved these important things—

1. It is futile to expect an Australian side to compete evenly with overseas teams unless players acquire peak physical fitness before playing in the first Test. The Australians did not reach that peak until last week.

2. The third back game, while necessary to the advancement of Australian Soccer, can be beaten. Just how great a part the slippery cricket pitch played in enabling South Africa's wing half-backs to am not prepared to say. The South Africans say it was considerable. The fact remains, that South Africa's attacks were not as convincing. It was surely more than coincidence that the two flank half-backs who usually operate the Springboks' assaults were, instead of being on preparatory work, floundering in the mud on the pitch.

Now that evidence has been so convincingly presented to the Australian team of what can be done when these players are checked, there is no reason why they should not be further held in thrall next Saturday. Gilib and Murray, disappointing in Saturday's first half, learned their lesson in that time, and in the second half blotted Kurland and Forbes out of the picture. That is the real reason why South Africa failed to produce its second half "blitz."

Dominant Force

At one stage Australia had such complete command in the first half that it was surprising its half-time lead was only 1-0—and that from a disputed penalty.

When South Africa equalised soon after the second half had begun, Australia's stocks slumped a little, but it was not long after that reverse that Australia became the dominant force.

South Africa's customary fight back in the last 15 minutes was missing. The Australians not only beat the South Africans to the ball, but also beat them at their own game—positional play.

Squarely Beaten, Say Springboks

By "The Onlooker"

A Northern Soccer team without some of the district's best players defeated South Africa by two goals to one at New Lambton Oval on Saturday.

It was only the second defeat inflicted on the South African side in its long tour. The first was in the fourth Test match. Both matches were lost on Newcastle grounds.

THE Springbok players said after the match that they were "fairly and squarely" beaten. They gave full credit to the hard-working Northern players, particularly for their fine and stubborn defensive work in the last 15 minutes, when the South Africans made a determined bid.

Suggestions that the team was "stale" after such an extensive tour were discounted by players themselves and officials.

The side that played the better type of football lost, but the North deserved some rewards for its vigorous, go-ahead methods.

Poor Attendance

The victory should be a tonic for Northern Soccer, but, there were these disquieting features—

- 1: The poor attendance
- 2: The withdrawal of D. Coote from the side.

Officials suggested early in the week that the attendance would be at least 8000 and probably 10,000. Special entrances were made to accommodate the expected crowd. But no more than 3000 were at the ground.

The international and Adamstown wing half-back, David Coote withdrew when he learned that he was not to be captain a position filled by the centre half-back, D. Evans. It had been announced that Coote would lead the side.

The team manager Mr. R. Grieves, who announced on Friday that Coote would lead the team, said he was disappointed Coote had withdrawn.

"He should have played and protested afterwards," he said.

Mr. Grieves said he made the appointment, since the selectors did not announce a captain when the team was announced.

He followed the precedent set when the South African side met the North in the first match some weeks ago.

"The selectors did not appoint a captain for that match, and I appointed A. Quill, without anything being said about it," said Mr. Grieves. "I did the same thing this time, but the selectors told me on Saturday morning that Evans was to captain the side. Why that was done I do not know. Coote has international experience and is a sound leader."

Why Coote Retired

Coote said he had withdrawn from the team, not because Evans was appointed captain, but because he was dissatisfied with the action of Mr. Drury.

"I was told by Mr. Grieves on Friday morning that I would captain the side," Coote said. "On Friday night I rang Mr. Drury, and he said Evans was to be captain. He said the team manager had nothing to do with the side until Saturday."

"I told Mr. Drury I was not happy about the position. He said that if that was how I felt I would be better off the field. I then withdrew."

May Protest

Coote's club, Adamstown, will discuss the matter at its next meeting. It will probably protest at the selectors' action.

Coote's withdrawal meant that a full-back, Hedley Parkes, of Wallsend, came into the side as a wing half-back, where he was not fully comfortable, particularly since he was opposed to the South Africans' most dangerous flank.

The North was without its three Test men, Coote, A. Heaney (who was not available), and E. Kemp, who was a reserve.

Heaney, as an inside forward, would have been better than C. Mowatt or D. Hodgins, the weak links in the North's attack, and Coote would have been of greater value than a full-back pressed into service as a half-back. Merrion played well enough to show that the North, having both he and Kemp, is well served for right wing forwards.

Mowatt and Hodgins did not fit into the attack. Both did some good things, but jarred when they moved into attack with the others. The rest of the side played well, outstanding being W. Harris (Kurri Kurri), a young full-back playing his first "big" fixture. He is, on this showing, the best find of the Northern season, and seems headed for a place in important teams for some seasons to come. He tackles quickly and with resolution, recovers well, and kicks with intelligence. His partner, C. Smith, paired well with Harris, and his quiet, almost unobtrusive work was splendid.

Scored Two Goals

Drinkwater, a doubtful quantity before the match began, was a great success. He scored both the North's goals, led the attack with determination, and held the line together well.

Drinkwater gave the South African defence little rest, and his two goals were the result of thrust and ability to follow up any slight chance. He worried the second goal from the South African side.

The North's defence won it the match. It was peppered almost unmercifully in the last few minutes, but refused to surrender. Dellaway, who played well, made two almost impossible saves. He might have saved South Africa's lone goal had he covered the ball which carried great spin, but his work in the last 20 minutes wiped out any slight error he might have made.

South Africa was the better football side. Has it had a better centre-forward than Wilson, it might have won, but he had an off day. South Africa retains all its polish, but the ball did not run kindly for it on Saturday. It was also beaten by the fact that the North was unorthodox. The Springbok players positioned themselves perfectly, but the Northern players did not allow Springbok anticipation to be realised. The Springbok players were unable to improvise, and paid the penalty.

Denied South Africans Used Vigorous Tactics

The South African Soccer players had not attempted to use vigorous tactics to win their matches, the Manager of the team (Mr. J. Barbour) said yesterday. He added that criticism to this effect by a responsible Soccer official was uncalled for and without justification.

Mr. Barbour was speaking at a dinner given to the visitors by the Northern Soccer Association at the Esplanade Hotel last night.

Commenting on the match against the North, Mr. Barbour said it was the cleanest of the whole series and despite the weather conditions had resulted in a brilliant game.

"We are near the end of our tour of Australia and I shall take away many happy memories of our games," he said. "There have been suggestions in the Press that our tour might be prolonged because of transport difficulties. That might be a blessing in disguise. The spirit of friendship which has been engendered must prove of benefit in the international and economic field between the two countries as well as on the playing ground."

Boost For Game

Representing the Mayor (Ald. Quinlan), Ald. Thornton said Australians welcomed teams from the other Dominions in any form of sport or athletics and were always prepared to take a hiding—though that seldom happened.

The President (Mr. R. Gardner) said visits by Soccer teams from overseas would be the lifeblood of the game for the moment; but the fostering of the game among the juniors through the P.S.A.A.A. would help Soccer to achieve eventually the position it held in every other English-speaking country.

Responding to the toast of "The Press," Mr. Meyer, representing a group of South African newspapers, said the standard of Soccer in Australia was better than they had been led to believe. He thought that in the next year or two the Australians would be invited to pit their skill against the South Africans.

Referees of Today

There has been a great deal of complaint in recent years, by players who aver that there is a lamentable lack of uniformity in the interpretation of the Rules by many Referees. Also that the game has been slowed up by the referee, who instead of ignoring small infringements, stops the game unnecessarily. One must admit there is ground for complaint, and I propose here to briefly touch upon one or two matters which have come under my notice.

The laws of the game only provide, of course, for intentional breaches, and yet how very often do we see referees penalised for what are clearly unintentional breaches. Cases of handling the ball, tripping, pushing, kicking, or holding an opponent may all on occasion, be considered accidental, and yet (and I must say that the players and public are equally at fault, because there is a unanimous appeal), the usual thing is to penalise the offending player, irrespective of whether the breach is intentional or unintentional.

A matter that also calls for attention is the ignoring of linesmen by the Referee, who should take them into his confidence, and make them feel that they are part and parcel of a game.

The Referee should, before the game commences, call the linesmen to him and first of all compare watches. Then he should satisfy himself that they know what to do when the ball goes into touch.

The linesmen decide, subject to the over-ruling power of the man in charge of the game, when the ball is out of play, and which side is entitled to the throw-in, or whether there should be a corner or a goal kick.

Regarding the question of uniformity of decisions, there has been a lot of controversy in relation to the throw-in. The linesmen should first of all point with the flag to the spot where the ball went out, and then, keeping his flag down, and standing about one yard from the thrower, he should watch the feet of the thrower, and the Referee should watch the throw. Linesmen often stand close to the thrower. This is a mistake, as it is impossible for him in that position to watch either the throw-in or the feet. The linesman who keeps his flag down when the throw-in is about to be taken, raises it when the player at the delivery of the ball, does not keep a part of both feet on the line.

Another point worth noticing is that a player is penalised by some Referees if he does not stand at right-angles to the touch-line when throwing in the ball. The rule simply says that a player must face the field of play when throwing in the ball. No angle is specified in the rules, and the interpretation given is palpably wrong and unfair to the players.

Another point is that many Referees forget that there is an advantage rule. Often a centre forward is partly tripped in the penalty area, and the whistle is blown for a penalty kick.

The Referee should have allowed the player to go on and score, otherwise in awarding the penalty kick, he may be penalising the offending player. Again a player may be partly tripped outside the penalty area and if the play is not allowed to proceed and a free kick is given, the result is that the team of the offending player is allowed to get into position to defend against the free kick, therefore penalising the wrong team.

SOCCER HONOR TO LAKE MACQUARIE

LAKE MACQUARIE won the State Soccer premiership yesterday beating the holders and Southern premiers Leichhardt 4-2 at Lambert Park.

The game was a story of lost opportunities for Leichhardt. The forwards had many chances of scoring but could not capitalise them.

Inside-right George Russell lost three golden opportunities when he missed three penalty shots. Two of them were wide of the goal and the other was driven straight at Johnstone, who played magnificently in goal.

Centre-half Alec Heaney was a tower of strength for the winners. His main job was in shadowing Leichhardt's star goalkicker, Frank Parsons.

He did this so well that Parsons scored only once during the game.

Outstanding Lake Macquarie forward was outside-left K. Anderson, who was a continual thorn in the sides of Marston and Parkes, Leichhardt's backs.

Centre-forward Hodgins was well supplied with scoring chances by his inside men Rae and Merrion, who played solidly.

Aub Garwell, who came into Leichhardt's goal half-way through the season, is still only 21 years old but he made some magnificent saves.

Honors for Leichhardt team must go to Hankin, the left-half, who was always with the play and kicked solidly.

One disputed goal, which Russell netted, but was ruled off-side, was the only "incident" in the game which called for barracking.

After the game Lake Macquarie captain D. Hodgins, in receiving the premiership cup, said he thought his team was fortunate to win.

Woonona defeated Corrimal by 6 goals to 1 in the second round of the reserve grade knockout after leading by 2 goals to nil at half-time.

Lake Macquarie 4 (J. Rae 2, C. Merrion 1, D. Hodges 1) beat Leichhardt 2 (F. Parsons 1, A. McMahon 1).

The North are Cup Fighters

By SID GRANT

Right from the birth of the code in the north, local teams have made a name for themselves as staunch and gallant Cup fighters.

In Cup ties, where defeat means elimination, northern sides have been seen to greater advantage than southern opponents.

In the Rainsford Trophy of 1885, Lambton Thistles entered without success. The next season Minmi Rangers entered the semi-final, only to be beaten by Granville by 2 to 0.

However, the first northern team to win a State Cup was in 1887, when Hamilton Athletic defeated Granville in the final by 4 to 1.

The winning team included T. Dixon, R. Jackson, A. Jackson, M. Liddle, M. Cambie, J. Edgton, J. Stevenson, A. Currie, C. Harrison, A. Crighton, J. Finlayson.

The famous Gardiner Cup series commenced in 1888 and Hamilton Athletic entered the semi-finals. Next season three Newcastle clubs, Hamilton Athletic, Minmi Rangers and Burwood United all went out in the first round.

In 1890 Minmi Rangers were K.O'd, beating Greta Bluebells in the First Round by 1-0.

In 1892 Minmi Rangers topped off a brilliant record by beating Pyrmont Rangers in the Gardiner Cup final by 3 to 0, scoring 11 goals to 1 in the whole series. In the following season Pyrmont Rangers reversed the decision in the final by 1 to 0.

Minmi Rangers again reached the semi-finals in 1894.

Adamstown won its way to the semi-finals for the first time in 1896. Two seasons later Newcastle West was beaten in final by Pyrmont Volunteers by 3 to 2. In 1899 West Wallsend reached the semi-final, to be beaten by Balgownie by 1 to 0. But the Bluebells set the whole State talking by its winning the Gardiner Cup in 1900-01. The eleven in 1900 was:—Burrell, Muir, F. Leekie, Maunders, Harden, Teasdale, Curran, Howie, Sevan, R. Leekie, J. Robertson. The only change in the 1901 eleven was Palmer replaced Burrell as goalie.

In 1902 West Wallsend entered the final again, only to go down to Pyrmont Rovers. In 1903-04-05 the Gardiner Cup was limited to Metropolitan teams only. The north's next success was in 1907 when Broadmeadow beat Pyrmont by 3 to 2 in a replay after a scoreless draw in the final.

This replay was the first final to be played outside the capital. Weston made its appearance in that season.

In 1909 Adamstown won the final by beating Pyrmont by 3 to 2 after a nil all draw at the first meeting.

In 1910 Wallsend went out of the semi-final beaten by H.M.S. Powerful 10 to 0.

Cessnock entered the semi-final round in 1912 to be "outed" by Balmain by 4 to 0.

Six entries from the north in 1913 was a record, but none went past the third round.

Two months after the war clouds had gathered over Europe, Merewether and Weston went into the semi-final, but Merewether went down in the final to Granville by 4 to 0.

In 1915 West Wallsend was beaten by Balmain in the final by 2 to 0. Peacé again in 1918 and Weston took Gardiner Cup to coalfields for the first time by beating Balmain Kiora by 1 to 0.

In 1919 West Wallsend were beaten finalists, going down to Balmain Fernleigh by 3 to 0.

Weston won its way into the semi-final in 1920, to be K.O'd by Balmain Fernleigh in a replay by 2 to 1. Then the golden era of northern Soccer commenced. West Wallsend won the Gardiner Cup in 1921, 1923-24-26, while Adamstown won it in 1925.

The 1926 final played in Newcastle between West Wallsend and Adamstown produced a $225 gate off one shilling admission. Ten northern clubs entered that season.

Then the State Cup came into existence in 1928. Northern teams dominated this series. Aberdare 1928, Cessnock 1929, Adamstown 1930, West Wallsend 1931, Weston 1932-34-36, Wallsend 1937-39, Wallsend 1942, Merewether 1943-44.

The League State Cup commenced in 1943 and during its short existence it has been won by Wallsend, 1944, and West Wallsend, 1945.

In recent years the domination of the north in Cup matches is best revealed that in the last 21 State Cup finals, northern teams have taken up 26 of the 42 places in the final.

Only in the 1935 and 1941 finals were all "southern" affairs.

In 1928-29-30-32-34-37-44 the final was between two northern teams. West Wallsend has the grand record of 10 Gardiner Cup finals, one State Cup final, one State League Cup final.

SCOTTISH WIT AND HUMOUR

A traveller at Euston Station, on looking for Inverness, was told to "Change at Aberdeen."

"Na," he replied, "I'll take ma change naw—I've been in Aberdeen before."

"Why didn't you stay in your wonderful country?" asked an Englishman, weary of his Scottish friend's boasting.

"Weel," said the other, "they're a' owre clever for me there, but I get on fine here."

Old MacTavish was giving his son some advice: "Laddie, be honest. Honesty is the best policy—I've tried baith."

Father-in-law: "I suppose ye ken that cheque I put among the wedding presents was merely for effect?"

Son-in-law: "Aye, an' the effect was excellent. The bank cashed it this morn wi'out a word."

A Dundee boy was kept from school because he had to pay attention.

Speaking of Dundee, the Dundee F.C., who are expected to visit Australia next season, won their first league fixture, defeating 3rd Lanark by five goals to nil.
